

Heat Retains Grip On Most Of Nation

By The Associated Press

Summer's longest heat wave gripped most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today, causing widespread misery and inconvenience.

The Weather Bureau said the oppressive heat and humidity was expected to continue for several days, with possibly minor relief in some areas.

Temperatures have soared to 100-plus for five straight days in parts of the nation's midsection and in the South. The 90s and 80s were general.

In St. Louis, where the mercury climbed to 105 Tuesday and has been 100-plus for four days, 20 deaths were attributed to the hot weather, most of them elderly persons. Six other heat-related deaths were reported in nearby St. Clair County, Ill. More than 100 persons at the All-Star baseball game in St. Louis were treated for heat-caused illnesses.

The Union Electric Co. in St. Louis said it planned to continue rationing electric power to 600,000 customers in an attempt to avert a blackout. The company cut off power Tuesday to 350,000 customers on a rotating basis up to two hours.

Other cities also have reported power shortages this week, including four in Nebraska. Many cities reported record consumption of power because of the use of cooling devices.

Violent storms broke out Tuesday and Tuesday night in widely scattered sections of the country.

Severe thunderstorms struck Sandusky, Ohio, and nearly a foot of rain caused flooding. About 200 persons were evacuated, a state of emergency was declared and the Ohio National Guard was called out. Southwest of Lake Erie, thunderstorms with strong winds and a few tornadoes were reported. Power blackouts occurred in Lima and Van Wert. A man playing golf in Lima was killed by lightning.

Heavy thunderstorms knocked down trees and powerlines and cut electrical service in several suburbs of Detroit. Minor flooding was reported in Detroit and Ann Arbor. Winds of more than 50 m.p.h. raked Pontiac and Flint.

Storms pounded Gainesville and Savannah Beach, Ga., toppling power lines and trees, smashing autos and causing thousands of dollars property damage. There were no injuries. Winds were clocked at 50 m.p.h. in the hail and rain storm which swept Savanna Beach. Temperatures in Gainesville dropped 25 degrees in eight minutes but the mercury soared back to sweltering highs after the storm.

In Columbus, Ohio, an evangelist's tent meeting ended abruptly when the tent, with about 600 persons inside, collapsed in a windstorm. Some 100 persons were trapped for a short time but no injuries were reported.

Rain and hail pelted areas between Sidney and North Platte in central-west Nebraska. In eastern Nebraska light rain fell, dropping temperatures from the 90s to 80.

In Florida a thunderstorm dropped hail on Bradenton and spawned a funnel cloud as it moved eastward across Manatee County.

A hailstorm swept an area about 45 miles northeast of Albany, N.Y., on the Vermont line. The mercury reached 98 at Albany, a record high for July 12.

Arkansas suffered another day of searing heat, including 104 at Pine Bluff and Little Rock. It was the fourth straight day of 100-plus reading at Little Rock.

Violent winds accompanied some thunderstorms that spread across northeastern Indiana Tuesday night. One man was killed by bricks falling from a chimney struck by lightning in Mishawaka. Two house trailers were toppled and four others were knocked from the foundations near Decatur.

Storms, with high winds and heavy rain struck across New England, knocking out power and telephone connections and downing trees. Hardest hit appeared to be the western and central sections of Vermont. Heavy rain hit Boston during the evening rush hour, dropping temperatures from the 90s to 70.

In Oklahoma there has been no appreciable rainfall in more than three weeks. High marks in the state Tuesday included 105 at Tulsa and 104 at Oklahoma City.

In the Far West — out of the torrid zone — heavy to moderate rain with winds up to 42 m.p.h. hit Spokane. Fairly pleasant weather continued in most of the Pacific Coast area with seasonal temperatures.

In the nation's capital, part of the blame for the prolonged hot spell was cast on the jet stream — high-flying winds blowing west to east across the continent.

Normally, the U.S. Weather Bureau said, the jet stream follows a long graceful curve, up into Canada and down again, carrying cool air masses out of the Far North into the midcontinent. Lately, however, it's just blowing more or less straight out over the Atlantic.

Rhodes Inspects Damage

Rain-Hit Sandusky Area Due For 'Disaster' Help

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes inspected this area deluged by nearly 11 inches of rain and moved today to help residents recover from flooding.

Rhodes flew here Tuesday night to view flood and storm damage in a four-county area near Lake Erie in northwestern Ohio. Sandusky, a city on a Lake Erie bay, was hardest hit, with up to 11 inches of rain causing wide flooding.

While residents worked to recover from the receding waters, John McElroy, the governor's top aide, said Rhodes would take formal action today to make the area eligible for federal disaster assistance.

Erie County commissioners appealed to the governor to make a declaration based on reports of crop damage. The oat and wheat crops were reported heavily damaged.

Wind and rainstorms moving southward through western Ohio left one man dead, a victim of lightning at Lima, knocked some radio stations off the air, brought down power lines and left some cities dark.

There were reports of tornadoes at Van Wert and Coldwater.

High waters from record rainfall in the Sandusky area routed 200 residents—about 75 families—from their homes.

Rhodes was told that 75 more families would have to be evacuated.

One bridge was reported fallen in Erie County and another was inundated by high waters.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Cleveland said 9.5 inches of rain fell on Sandusky during seven hours Tuesday, and that another 1.07 inches was added to that during thundershowers at mid-afternoon.

Sandusky City Manager Stuart Gosser declared a state of emergency, and 50 Ohio National Guardsmen were sent in to help police and firemen.

Guardsmen used four amphibious personnel carriers — "Ducks"—to help in the evacuation of residents.

With practically no wind aloft Tuesday, a string of thunderstorms hovered over Erie, Huron and Ottawa counties and deluged the area time and time again.

Sandusky's three hospitals experienced flooding on their lower levels but no patients were evacuated.

Utility companies were swamped with calls for flooded

Conciliatory Tone

Johnson Sets 4 Points For Asian Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has spelled out a four-point policy for peace in Asia combining U. S. commitment against aggression there with a continuing effort for improved relations with Red China.

"The peace we seek in Asia is a peace of conciliation," Johnson said in a speech Tuesday night to the American Alumni Council.

"Communists in Asia still believe in force to achieve their goals" and the United States, as a Pacific power, "will not retreat from the obligations of freedom and security in Asia" and particularly in Viet Nam, he said.

But lasting peace depends on international trade, the free flow of people and ideas, the full participation of all nations in an international community and a common dedication to human progress and development, he said.

Declaring that "a peaceful mainland China is central to a peaceful Asia," he said Peking must be discouraged from aggression hostility and encouraged toward peaceful cooperation with others.

He cited U. S. efforts — so far unsuccessful — to open up travel between the United States and mainland China.

Such U. S. initiatives will continue, he said "because we believe that cooperation, not hostility, is really the way of the future" toward a Pacific era in which America and Asia are partners across the ocean.

In other developments Tuesday:

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference that Peking and Hanoi are still showing no intent to end the Viet Nam war, and "we are not over the hump yet — we haven't begun to see the end of this thing yet" while North Viet Nam continues to send men and materiel against the South.

Johnson called bipartisan congressional leaders to the White House to hear reports from Rusk, just returned from an Asian trip, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Richard Helms, intelligence chief. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the report on Viet Nam was encouraging.

A group of congressmen just back from Viet Nam reported in speeches to the House that the U. S. military position is greatly improved but the war's end remains a long way off. Most of the 14 set no time limit, but some said U. S. commanders believe victory possible in one or two years.

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said Hanoi has rebuffed moves to give U. S. captives protection under the Geneva prisoners of war agreement. He said it still is possible North Viet Nam might not try the captives as war criminals.

$30 Million Set

Expansion Is Set At Toronto Plant

The Titanium Metals Corp. of America plans to spend nearly $30 million at its nearby Toronto plant under plans announced today for the installation of $50 million in additional processing equipment over the next three years.

The company, the world's largest and only integrated producer of titanium metal, is jointly owned by the National Lead Co. and the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp.

It draws ore from its mines in Australia, reduces ore and melts ingot at its plant at Henderson, Nev., and converts ingot into a full range of mill products in the modern, specialized finishing facility at Toronto.

A NEW $6 million forge shop at Toronto, scheduled for completion this fall, is to be further expanded; a complex of continuous pickling, descaling and annealing units have been engineered to support the rolling equipment now continuously processing the very tough titanium sheet alloys for advanced aircraft; there is to be a complete extrusion and finishing facility to produce the 50-foot precision extrusions required by new aircraft and, also, to further support existing seamless tube equipment; a variety of new bar finishing units are planned, as well as additional proprietary equipment to produce high strength structural wires and the highest quality welding wires, and a new testing facility is under way to match the ever tighter quality assurance required by engine and airframe designers.

At the Henderson plant, ingot melting capacity will be moved upward from the present 12,000 tons per year to 18,000 tons per year and the new furnaces will be capable of melting 15,000-pound ingots and triple-melting premium grade metal.

The company also plans to raise its production of sponge—the raw, intermediate titanium metal — from the present level of 10,000 tons per year to 16,000 tons per year.

It will install an electrolytic sponge production plant, which represents a complete departure from all present commercial methods for producing sponge in any country. For some 15 years, Titanium Metals has been

Picked Up By FBI Agents

Retired Officer Indicted In Red 'Conspiracy' Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former military aide to the Joint Chiefs of Staff has been accused of conspiring to deliver defense information to the Soviet Union.

A federal grand jury indictment naming William Henry Whalen, a retired Army lieutenant colonel, said the information included data on atomic weapons, missiles and the reactivation plans of the Strategic Air Command.

It said Whalen received a total of $5,500 on six occasions between December 1959 and March 1961 from two former Soviet Embassy officials who have returned home.

There was no immediate explanation from the Justice Department nor the Pentagon on the gap of five years between the last alleged offense and the arrest.

Whalen, 51 and now unemployed, was taken into custody Tuesday by FBI agents in suburban Alexandria, Va., where he lives. He was arraigned on the espionage conspiracy charge, which carries a maximum penalty of death, and released several hours later after posting $15,000 bond.

The two Soviets, Col. Sergei Edemski and Mikhail S. Shumayev, were named as co-conspirators in the indictment returned by a grand jury in Newport News, Va. The Justice Department said the two were not charged because they are no longer in the United States.

Edemski, former assistant Soviet military attache, returned home in February 1960 and Shumayev, former first secretary, returned in September 1963, the department said.

Whalen, who had been awarded the Legion of Merit and Army Commendation Medal, served in Europe and Japan before being assigned in 1955 to the Army intelligence branch of the foreign liaison office in Washington.

He later was assigned to the staff of the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the Pentagon where he served until Feb. 3, 1961, when he was retired on a physical disability after more than 20 years of active duty.

Whalen's wife, Bernadine, was contacted by Washington

Planes Remain Grounded

Negotiators Meet Again In Bid For Airline Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators met again today in an effort to resolve the six-day airlines strike after a dispute over a "status quo" agreement abruptly broke up talks Tuesday.

The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists halted the talks and accused Northwest Airlines, one of five companies shut down by the walkout, of putting economic pressure on its employees living in the airline's compound in Tokyo.

Northwest denied knowledge of any violations of the Aug. 9, 1965, union-management agreement "to keep things the way they are" pending the outcome of contract talks.

Today's meeting, sources said, will attempt to determine whether there is any basis for the IAM complaint and whether the Tokyo developments were local in nature or connected, with the Northwest headquarters in Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.

A spokesman for Northwest said the airline took its action after mechanics refused to service military charter flights. The spokesman added that the demand for rent payments followed company policy that was in existence before the strike.

More than 35,000 machinists walked off their jobs Friday against Northwest, Trans World, Eastern, National and United. The strike has halted 60 per cent of the nation's air travel at a cost to the airlines and labor of an estimated $8 million daily.

The struck airlines agreed to bargain jointly with the union last August. Braniff, Continental and Northeast Airlines, with employees represented by the machinists, did not enter into

'Relevance'

Lack Of Good Education Deplored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The lack of "a really good education" is what's bothering college students today — not Viet Nam, sex or the bomb.

That is the central thesis of a recent report on a national conference on student stress, and the key word is "relevance."

"One criterion of a good education," the report said, "is relevance — relevance to the world of modern politics and social ferment, relevance to the human condition in mass society, relevance to the doubts, fears and hopes of thoughtful youth."

The report grew out of a conference held last fall in Warren, Va., by representatives of 33 colleges and universities, usually two students and one faculty member from each. The report was written by Dr. Edward J. Shoben Jr., director of the Center for Study and Training in Higher Education at the University of Cincinnati.

"We need relationships with teachers who will help us face the big tough hang-ups," one student wrote about the conference.

"Am I a moral pacifist or a coward? Is abortion a human answer to the problems of unwed motherhood, and what has the pill got to do with my answer? Who am I, where am I, where am I headed, and do I really want to go there? What are the things that make society really worth fighting for?"

Not too many clearcut answers emerged from this soul-searching, but Shoben's report did come up with these suggestions:

—Graduate schools should give more attention to the preparation of teachers — with broader range of experience, student evaluation of their performance, and counseling experience "to help him attune himself more sensitively to student problems."

—More attention should be paid in college to "identify effective teachers and to reward them."

—"Students themselves should play a larger instructional role."

"A student should have the privilege of inventing his own course."

—Pass-fail judgments should be substituted for grades perhaps for the entire freshman year to encourage students to try subjects in which they are weak.

"When grading time comes around, experience in the outer world" should be considered, "when one works in a bank, teaches in a freedom school, acts as an orderly in a mental hospital, or serves in a party's headquarters during a political campaign."

The report also proposed closer student-faculty relations, through periodic faculty-student retreats such as this conference, Saturday discussions, and perhaps including students on decision-making bodies within the university.

In addition, plans for a two-year action program to combat the causes of student stress were announced by the sponsoring organization, the National Student Association.

An apparently fundamental problem in today's universities showed up even during the conference, held over three days last November at a luxurious estate called Airlie House.

"Professors and professionals tended to sit together at meals," the report said. "In the informal evening gatherings after scheduled sessions were done, there was little mixing of students with faculty. Fundamental barriers between the groups were invisibly but authoritatively operative; and in this sense, the conference mirrored in some degree a major source of student stress on virtually any campus."

One anecdote from a faculty member of a Border State university was illustrative.

He met with a group of Negro students, newly admitted to the institution. They were mostly juniors and seniors.

Their major and unanimous complaint: "None of them had ever had a conversation with a professor without a relatively formal and predetermined agenda."

Arraignment Set On Friday In Store Case

James Eugene Deel, 20, of 1307 Main St., Wellsville, will be arraigned at 1:30 p. m. Friday in Columbiana County Southwest Court at Lisbon on a charge of breaking into Platt's Market, 1329 Main St., Sunday night.

He appeared in Southwest Court Tuesday afternoon, but had no lawyer nor funds to hire one, so Acting Judge Richard D. Kennedy asked Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court to appoint counsel for the defendant.

Atty. William Telzrow Jr. of Wellsville was named to represent Deel, who remains in the County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond set Monday by Kennedy.

Theodore Pekarchick of 143 Elm St., Lisbon, was fined $25 and costs after being found guilty of a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife Janice. Kennedy suspended a 30-day jail sentence conditioned on the defendant's good behavior.

Charges of swimming in "No Swimming" areas of Guilford Lake and an assortment of traffic citations also were heard yesterday.

Three East Liverpool youths pleaded guilty to swimming from watercraft and were fined $10 and costs each. However, the court suspended the fines for John Watkins, 19, of 1068 Bank St.; Bernie Lerch, 19, of 1051 Ephraim St., and Steve Haniots, 18, of 211 Thompson Ave.

Hildegard Schnuttgen of Youngstown, charged with swimming "in the middle of the lake," forfeited a $15 appearance bond. Lake Patrolman J. R. Jewell cited the swimmers.

Drivers fined were Leroy McIntosh, 22, of 417 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, driving too fast for conditions, $20 and costs; Ronald J. Sanor, 21, Salem R.D. 1, driving too fast for conditions, $20 and costs, and Raymond V. Bartley, 35, of Industry, speeding, $10 and costs.

Forfeiting were Lyle A. Ward, 69, of Canton, driving while under the influence of alcohol, $200; Willis E. Gray, 42, of 135 W. Spruce St., Lisbon, passing without assured clear distance, $20; Agatha D. Kandis, 35, of Wheeling, W. Va., no operator's license, $15; Charles E. Brown, 27, of Cleveland, Ross W. Fergus, 20, of Euclid and Charles B. Kerns of Junior, W. Va., all charged with speeding, $15 each.

A hearing was continued until 1:30 p. m. Friday, July 22, for Patrick R. Mundy, 18, of 1551 Jennings Ave., Salem, when he pleaded not guilty to a State Highway Patrol charge of making a left turn without giving a signal.

despite her threats. A vigorous protest has been made to Hanoi over the public parading of U. S. prisoners, he said.

Johnson delivered his speech from the White House theater after thunderstorms canceled his plans to fly to the alumni council meeting at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. The speech was carried by radio and television networks.

In what appeared to be part of an administration effort to hold down excessive optimism from reports of recent successes in Viet Nam, the President kept stressing that the war "may last a long time."

He advised Hanoi leaders that "victory for your armies is impossible" but "the minute you realize that a military victory is out of the question, and turn from the use of force, you will find us ready to reciprocate."

Johnson's reference to the U. S. effort in Viet Nam was part of one of the four essentials he cited for peace in Asia. As he phrased it, this is "to prove to aggressive nations that the use of force to conquer others is a losing game."

His other three points were "the determination of the United States to meet our obligations in Asia as a Pacific power," "the building of political and economic strength among the nations of free Asia" and "reconciliation between nations that now call themselves enemies."

It was under this last heading that Johnson gave what was described as his most comprehensive outline yet of the developing U. S. policy toward China.

"Lasting peace can never come to Asia as long as the 700 million people of mainland China are isolated by their rulers from the outside world," he said.

"We have learned in our relations with other such states that the weakness of neighbors is a temptation and only firmness backed by power can deter power backed by ambition," he said. "But we have also learned that the greatest force for opening closed minds and closed societies is the free flow of ideas and people and goods."

Washington has been lifting its barriers on travel by Americans to Red China in recent months. In December doctors were granted permission to go to the mainland. The list was broadened to include scholars and then, as of last Monday, to include most others outside of tourists.

Johnson noted Tuesday night that a businessman from Providence, R.I., G. William Miller, has just received a State Department okay to visit Communist China for commercial purposes.

"I don't know how this could happen. It isn't possible. I don't believe it. I don't believe it. I'll never believe it. It just isn't true, it just isn't true — he never said anything about this to me."

"Oh, what will I do now — who's going to pay all these bills?"

She declined later to talk with other newsmen.

The Army said Whalen is a native of Watervliet, N.Y. He reportedly had worked the last three summers as a laborer for the Fairfax County Park Authority in Virginia at wages ranging from $1.40 to $1.79 an hour.

her head about 12 to 18 inches off the ground because of the leash looped around her neck and fastened to the chain.

SHE BEGAN to scream, attracting the attention of a neighbor, John Yanni of 912 St. George St., who was sitting on the back porch at his home. He immediately cut the noose free of the girl's neck and telephoned for an ambulance. A neighbor administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while awaiting arrival of the ambulance. Oxygen was administered by the ambulance crew.

Dr. Costello said the girl attended summer school classes yesterday morning. Her mother picked her up and took her home after school. The mother had purchased the new plastic leash just Monday night for the girl to use in leading her small terrier.

After finishing lunch, the child asked: "Where's my leash?" obtained it and went outside to play on the swing set.

A 5-year-old neighbor child related that he had seen Lois "playing on the bar at the top" of the gym set, but did not witness the accident.

LOIS WAS born in Salem, Aug. 10, 1955, and lived in this vicinity her lifetime. She would have been a sixth-grade pupil at Garfield School this fall. She was a member of the Wellsville First Church of the Nazarene.

In addition to her parents, she leaves her sister, Miss Beverly June Wheatley, at home, and a half-brother, Charles Gibbs of Massillon.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. Clark Allison. Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and night.

Fined were Earl and Geneva Mercer of New Cumberland, Paul Bailey of New Cumberland and James Dulaney of Weirton.

Riggs Relates Highlights Of Trip Abroad

James H. Riggs screened color slides of his trip to Europe last year with an Ohio delegation of food executives during the program at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

The journey was made in conjunction with the "People - To People" program instituted under the Eisenhower administration.

A total of 27 persons, including 20 executives and seven wives, began the 21-day trip in early August, flying initially from New York to Zurich, Switzerland.

The group, continuing through Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden and Russia, was taken on guided tours through modern markets and other food establishments featuring the latest systems in refrigeration and merchandising.

Several large department stores incorporated a supermarket in the basement area, Riggs explained. He showed scenes of the GUM government-operated store in Moscow, supposedly the largest in the world. The abacus is widely used in place of cash registers throughout Russia, he noted.

Dr. James Lee Swinkler of Midland was a visiting Rotarian at yesterday's meeting.

Clifford E. Hindley gave the invocation.

Arthur V. Doak presided.

Why The Last-Minute Controversy?

Fast-changing developments made it virtually impossible to comment sensibly up to this point on the controversy which arose at the last minute over the two new plants which the Air Reduction Co. is planning to erect in the Arroyo section of Hancock County.

No sooner would thoughts be put on paper than they would find their way to the waste-basket, being outdated in a matter of hours. On the assumption that things now appear to be on a fairly even keel — at least for the time being — we offer a few observations which have emerged during the last few days.

A pertinent question came to mind immediately in the 11th-hour action that jeopardized the new plants. It was this:

Why did it take so long for protests to be forthcoming in view of the fact that the project had been under discussion for months and in view of the fact that a detailed public announcement of the transaction was made as long ago as four weeks?

One can appreciate the concern of long-established companies over what they might regard as an advantage for a newcomer. But also not to be overlooked is the time, work and money expended by the Air Reduction Co. in laying the groundwork for its proposed operations.

A question mark still hangs over the petition itself which was instrumental in stirring the fight which had snarled final agreement on new industrial complex until yesterday. At least two of the companies which were said to have signed the petition calling for a public hearing hastily denied having done so. An executive of one of the firms, in fact, said his company would welcome Airco as a spur to business.

Another factor to be considered is that the bond-financing program by which Airco will come to the area is not something arrived at for Hancock County alone. On the contrary, it is in keeping with a statewide plan authorized by the West Virginia legislature to help attract additional industry to the Mountain State.

While recognizing the feelings of the other side, we feel it only proper that the way has been cleared for Airco to move ahead with construction plans.

The manner in which the delaying tactics unfolded had cast a cloud over the entire proceedings and fostered a belief that individual selfishness could have been the motivating force rather than a serious concern for the great majority of Hancock County's citizens.

Noisemakers

Mayor Burton G. Ward of Chester has our full support in his crackdown on those who make "unnecessary noise with motorbikes."

And why not add unnecessary noise with any type of vehicle?

Few things are more irritating than the screeching, the peeling, the over-zealous horn-toting and the other obnoxious habits that turn generally sensible drivers into diabolical beasts of the highway.

How To Save $14 Billion

Defense Secretary McNamara comes close to sounding as if he had saved so much money in spite of multi-billion-dollar military effort in Viet Nam that his department is operating at rock-bottom economy.

This same reasoning in the past has made it appear that Mr. McNamara makes savings materialize out of thin air by comparing what might have been spent on defense with what actually was spent and counting the difference as net gain.

It is not easy to follow this line of reasoning. It is like advertising pitchmen who claim their products is 50 per cent stronger, or more fragrant, or something.

It is like a family claiming it saved $10,000 last year because it did not buy two $5,000 automobiles, when in fact it did not have enough cash in hand to make the down payment on one three-year-old used car.

It is like a woman claiming she lost 30 pounds because she did not eat her way to a gross total of 180 but leveled off at 150, instead.

The sum and substance of the defense secretary's claim is that his department has saved more than $14 billion in the first four years of its cost-reduction program and that $4.5 billion of this was saved in the 12 months ending last June 30.

This was the same period in which Congress was making supplemental appropriations to cover war costs—the same period in which some observers claim the Department of Defense was using up supplies and manpower in Viet Nam at the expense of military security in other parts of the world.

Many things about Secretary McNamara are hard to understand, including his recent statement that oil-dump bombings have had no discernible effect.

But nothing is harder to understand than his claim that taxpayers are saving money in an undeclared war that is using up manpower and money at a fantastic rate, with no end in sight. How could that be?

The More The UN-Merrier

The federal government's official employment and unemployment guesses for June have been issued—and it's the same old story.

Thanks to students who supposedly landed summer jobs, the guess on total employment is a record high—75.7 million.

But thanks to the fact the official guesswork on total employment also includes official guesswork on total unemployment, it is estimated that the over-all unemployment rate is still 4 percent of the total employment rate. That comes out at 3,028,000 people who presumably don't have jobs.

This project total necessarily includes all people who must be classified as chronically unemployed—people who never will have jobs.

It also includes the people who don't really want jobs but would take jobs if offered.

What it all amounts to is the probability that the more Americans there are, the more employed people there are, also the more unemployed people including those chronically unemployed. That's logic.

The population is too large to take actual nose counts, so statisticians now make projections, with the aid of computers and their own educated guesswork.

They think there may have been 75.7 people employed in June, give or take a million or two, also more than three million who didn't have jobs, give or take half a million or so. It's all very interesting, but nothing to be taken at face value.

the cooling effect of evaporation. Because dogs have no sweat glands in their skin surface, they must cool themselves by evaporation from their tongues.

Millions of people who might have left children or pets in closed cars this summer now have been forewarned by a tragedy in Miami.

Next winter, millions who might have killed themselves and others by breathing the exhaust fumes of auto engines will be forewarned by the first stories of carbon monoxide poisoning.

These tragedies happen all the time. People learned slowly at best, and some never learn at all.

By Truman Twill

cover-up stage. Or it might be in another interval of dressed-up nudity, where it is now.

But change, itself, is the only thing that always stays the same, I explained, putting reverse English on the previous axiom.

My mother, when I was small, wore skirts that swept the floor, a choker collar that came up under her ears, high button shoes that were seen only when she stepped into a carriage, elaborate head-dresses that looked like regalia for a court ceremony, two or three petticoats and, beneath it all, as I learned from examining contents of the trash barrel, a rig made of steel, fiber and string that was called a corset.

Periodically a furtive female referred to as the "corset lady" came to the house and took measurements for a new outfit. I always thought of her as an "armor," in the style of the fellows who served armored knights, my heroes of that period.

So what point am I making, the lady of my acquaintance wanted to know. And I said the point I was making was that fashions keep changing and everybody who gets a kick out of artful nudity had better get 'em now, because there now is no place to go but back toward skirts that sweep the floor, choker collars, high button shoes and those rigs the furtive lady used to take measurements for in the privacy of an upstairs bedroom.

It's inevitable.

It Can Happen Here!

The Eisenhower Image Remains

By Barry Schweid

WASHINGTON Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara demonstrated anew this week that the Eisenhower image remains a potent one on the Washington scene.

Asked at a news conference to explain his apparent change of heart about the wisdom of bombing the Hanoi and Haiphong oil depots, McNamara said conditions had changed and added: "I think it was essentially this same line of reasoning that led Gen. Eisenhower to make the statement that he did."

By invoking the Eisenhower name, McNamara was doing what comes naturally. When you make a controversial decision look to the former president for a first line of defense.

This is what President John F. Kennedy did after Dwight D. Eisenhower left the White House in January 1961 and this is what President Johnson has done since.

IT'S USUALLY a safe gambit. Having shouldered the burden of presidential decision-making and concomitant criticism for eight years, Eisenhower generally is a sympathetic source of support.

The byproducts of his support are considerable.

There is the political insurance inherent in a former Republican president's endorsement of a Democratic administration's decision.

Some of the controversy is squeezed out of the decision by giving it a bipartisan coloring. The magic of the Eisenhower name may turn the trick of rallying the undecided.

And so Kennedy and Johnson employed this tactic again and again, and did not confine its use to highly controversial matters.

For instance—When Kennedy asked Congress in March 1961 for $500 million for economic and social development in Latin America he included a reminder that the program began under Eisenhower.

Later that month in a special message to Congress on foreign aid, always a whipping boy to some congressmen, he recalled Eisenhower's support of the program.

In March 1962, when Kennedy advocated the United States look beyond its borders toward closer economic and political association with Europe and Japan he noted Eisenhower's general endorsement.

WHEN JOHNSON, in December 1963, appealed to Congress to reject a drastic reduction in foreign aid funds proposed in the House he said the cutback would undo Eisenhower's efforts in Latin America.

In May 1965, Johnson shored up his controversial decision to send Marines to the Dominican Republic with an Eisenhower statement of support.

Last January, when air strikes against North Viet Nam were resumed, Eisenhower was quick to support the move.

The same day Johnson ordered air attacks on the North Viet Nam oil depots Eisenhower issued a statement calling the decision "a military necessity" and saying "I support it."

Cooperation between Eisenhower and his successors has not always been velvet smooth. Last August, for example, Eisenhower challenged Johnson's oft-repeated contention that U.S. military action in Viet Nam flowed from a 1954 Eisenhower commitment to the Saigon government.

But that disagreement was the rare exception.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I have read about the city drivers' licenses that are required in Chester, with those who failed to obtain them being liable to a fine of $25 and costs or a maximum fine of $100 and costs.

I have talked with several car owners. They said they didn't object to paying the tax, but they wanted to see some results.

If I recall rightly, last year there was a list in The Review of the streets that were to be repaired. And the cost, over 1,600 licenses or $3,200, would fill a lot of chuckholes. They couldn't understand how Council could pass a law to conflict with a state law. If you bought a state license, how could they prevent you from driving in the city?

Red Plots

By David Lawrence

Anti-War Rioting Reviewed

The Soviet government is spending a relatively small amount of money but obtaining a considerable amount of publicity as it seems to convince the world by organized propaganda efforts that the United States is losing the war in Viet Nam. The purpose is to develop a public opinion unfavorable to this country's foreign policies and to hammer away at the prestige of America. Within the last several days, anti-American demonstrations have been carefully stimulated throughout Europe and Latin America as well as in the Far East.

The Communist technique is to start outbreaks in the streets and other public places at opportune moments. There is scarcely a country in the world where Communist money has not been used to initiate such demonstrations against American policy in Southeast Asia.

The bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong areas furnished an excuse for interfering with official and unofficial celebrations of the Fourth of July by Americans abroad. United States Embassies in Paris and London were surrounded by demonstrators. There were clashes in the capitals of Sweden and Denmark.

COMMUNIST groups in West Berlin distributed leaflets denouncing the bombings. In Japan, students marched through the streets to try to mar the visit of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Police, of course, endeavored to keep rioters from interfering with the celebrations, but for several days in succession these anti-American episodes got space in the newspapers, thus giving the impression that world opinion is in opposition to the United States.

The same thing happened in Rome, where thousands of Communists put on noisy demonstrations with all kinds of posters and placards condemning the United States government and expressing approval for some of the dissent in the Italian government over American policy in Viet Nam.

Secretary Rusk, on his return from his Far Eastern visit, said unquestionably some of the demonstrations were encouraging the North Vietnamese. They have misconstrued the dissent on the political front in the United States.

He pointed out that the Communist governments do not realize that such opposition is not interfering in the slightest with the determination of President Johnson to persist in the policy now being followed.

THE UNITED STATES has paid relatively little attention to the organized propaganda being carried on by Communists in foreign countries. No effective measures are being taken to rebut what the Communist mouthpieces are saying.

Some effort is being made over the radio by the Voice of America and other organizations to express the American viewpoint but, strangely enough, the demonstrations are more or less ignored by the American government.

Yet, there is evidence that continuance of such propaganda maneuvers has made an impression around the world and has had an influence in preventing many countries from coming to the support of the United States in the Viet Nam war.

Even within this country, Congress has not revealed to public view the manner in which the Soviet government is directly or indirectly financing demonstration and carrying on an incessant propaganda.

Just because many of the participants are Americans, the public is not likely to suspect that such movements have been carefully planned by the Communists.

There are, to be sure, many Americans who conscientiously disagree with the government's foreign policy and are sincerely convinced of the wisdom of their dissent. But more often the protesting groups inside America have in their midst active Communists, or persons who are tools of the Communist apparatus.

UNTIL THE Viet Nam war became acute, there was a tendency to appraise as insignificant the Communist subversion campaign in America.

But when, as a result of Communist plotting, a public opinion began to be formed in other parts of the world which actually has tended to prolong a war and increase the number of casualties by preventing peace negotiations, the use of such propaganda techniques is of vital importance to the American people.

Congress could mitigate the effects of the Communist demonstrations by exposing their artifice and the source of their funds.

Despite Leaf Beetle Quarantine

County Farmers May Sell Grain To Local Elevators

LISBON — Columbiana County farmers can sell their grain to local elevators as usual despite the cereal leaf beetle quarantine announced last Friday.

Joe D. Pittman, county extension agent for agriculture, said several county elevators are getting equipment and chemicals to treat the grain. It is not advised that individual farmers buy treating equipment, he said.

Under provisions of the quarantine, hay, straw and grain may be moved anywhere within the quarantine area, but movement into unquarantined areas without treatment and certification is a quarantine violation subject to a $1,000 fine and or 90 days in jail.

All northeastern Ohio south through Columbiana County was placed under quarantine last week by John M. Stackhouse, director of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, after U. S. Department of Agriculture agents found the cereal leaf beetle in the various counties.

The order came just as wheat fields ripened for harvest. Pittman said many farmers have called him wanting to know what to do.

City Man Bound Over On Burglary Charges

Eugene C. Hughes, 22, of 228 W. 7th St. was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond today by Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff on a charge of breaking and entering a building at C. & J. Motors used car lot at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts. early Sunday.

Represented by L. W. Smith Jr., Hughes pleaded not guilty and waived a preliminary hearing. The burglary charge was signed by Lt. Robert B. Pyle and Patrolman David K. Mumaw.

Police said Hughes was found lying underneath a car inside the building when officers investigated a suspected prowler. A window had been broken on the west side of the building, police said.

Roving Bands Stir Melee In Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP) — Bands of Negro youths ran through a near Southwest Side neighborhood Tuesday night, breaking windows, looting stores and hurling rocks and homemade bombs.

The disturbance was ignited during the late afternoon when police turned off a fire hydrant in the Negro neighborhood during hot, muggy weather.

It was the second major disturbance in Chicago this summer.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., chairman of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and Negro community leaders helped police quiet the disturbance.

Twenty-four Negroes were arrested and several persons were injured during the melee, including motorists whose car windows were shattered by rocks as they drove through the area.

The incident came on a night when an 88-degree temperature enveloped the city. During the day, the mercury was 96.

The disturbance at the fire hydrant began about 5:30 p.m. Several hundred Negroes were involved in the incident and police were reporting sporadic pockets of trouble in the early hours today.

The trouble occurred along a one-mile strip of Roosevelt Road and for a quarter mile to the south, about 26 blocks from downtown Chicago.

It is common practice on hot days in Chicago for residents to open fire hydrants for children to cool themselves. More than 300 hydrants were opened across the city Tuesday.

Dr. King, who is conducting an anti-slum drive in Chicago, planned noon and evening rallies in a park in the neighborhood for Negro residents to air grievances. He said he would present the grievances to city officials.

Roosevelt Road is a general ethnic dividing line between Negroes and Italians. South of Roosevelt Road is solidly Negro while many Italians live to the immediate north.

The area is about 4 1/4 miles south of a Puerto Rican neighborhood where three nights of disturbances erupted last month.

A policeman who said he was on the scene when the disturbance began — Thomas Reynolds — said the Negroes complained that the officers turned off the hydrants in their neighborhood, but allowed them to run in the Italian section.

Reynolds told newsmen that the Negroes doused him and his partner with cans of water as they turned off the water. He said the crowd became angry and soon grew in size to around 300 persons.

Negro leaders said the rioting began when an officer struck a Negro youth with a nightstick. Agene Beach, a Negro policeman on the scene, said a rock was hurled through the window of his squad car and sprayed his partner, John Buckley, a white policeman, with glass. Beach said neither he nor Buckley used their nightsticks.

Eight youths were arrested at the hydrant and one of them was admitted to a hospital.

The other seven youths were released after Dr. King went to the police station and told authorities that their appearance in the neighborhood might pacify the restless Negro gangs.

There are about 143 million civil defense shelter spaces throughout the nation.

Injury Perils Wife's Sight; Husband Held

An East End man was arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge alleging he beat his wife so severely with his fists that she will lose the sight of an eye.

Richard Lisk of 1049 St. George St. pleaded not guilty to the affidavit which his wife, Mrs. JoAnn Lisk, signed Tuesday in her bed at City Hospital. The charge alleges she was beaten Friday. Her condition today was listed as "fair."

Lisk entered the plea through his counsel, William Telzrow of Wellsville. After a brief exchange between Telzrow and Richard J. Clark, assistant city solicitor, the judge set Lisk's appearance bond at $2,500. But he warned the defendant the bond will be increased considerably if he repeats an attempt to see his wife in the hospital. The affidavit also alleges that the beating "broke a wire which had been inserted in her neck by prior surgery." Authorities said the insertion of the wire was part of the treatment Mrs. Lisk received years ago to correct polio damage.

The affidavit was filed under state law. It alleges that Lisk "unlawfully and maliciously with intent to maim JoAnn Lisk did assault and strike the said JoAnn Lisk with his fists, thereby putting out the eye of the said JoAnn Lisk and breaking a wire that had been inserted in her neck by prior surgery."

Lisk's preliminary hearing was set tentatively for Monday, providing his wife has been released from the hospital by that time. On the same date, he is scheduled for a hearing on charges of intoxication and resisting or abusing police officers in the performance of their duties.

He was arrested on the two counts early Saturday morning while making an attempt to see his wife at the hospital, though doctors had given orders she was not to have visitors, police said.

Judge Chertoff pointed out to Lisk the charge is a felony and that the court here will determine only whether he should be held for Grand Jury action. When the question of the bond arose, Clark told the judge that Mrs. Lisk's room at the hospital is marked "with a no visitors sign, but he was going to see her anyway. Police were required to remove him forcibly."

Telzrow told the judge he talked with the attending physician Tuesday night and was told that Mrs. Lisk probably will not lose the sight of the eye.

The judge set the bond at $2,500, but warned: "It's very easy to raise that bond to $25,000."

"If I hear that you have gone to the hospital under any pretext, I will raise that bond immediately," the judge told Lisk. "I'm concerned about the welfare and safety of that woman."

Unhurt In Mishap

NEW CUMBERLAND — Marlene Laskoch, 23, of 319 Woodlawn Rd., Steubenville, escaped injury when her 1966 auto was forced off West Virginia Route 2 south of here by an unidentified vehicle about 4:30 this morning, the Hancock County sheriff's office reported. Her auto received moderate damage.

IMMUNIZATION AND YOU

Of course, the primary purpose of vaccines is to protect you and your family from contracting a specific disease. But also consider the fact that when you have your doctor immunize you and your family against such diseases as polio or measles you are helping to protect the health of our community. You are eliminating the possibility that you may be the unknown carrier of the disease. Why not call your family doctor today and ask him about the importance of immunization?

householders who asked that gas and electricity be shut off. It took skindivers to shut off gas meters in some parts of the city.

Red Cross rescue centers were set up at the National Guard Armory which housed several families Tuesday night, and at two other locations.

The hardest hit residential area was Perkins Township just south of Sandusky. Fifty families were evacuated from their flooded homes there.

Rhodes was accompanied on his inspection tour by State Highway Director P. E. Mashier, who said damage to state roads was heavy but could not be assessed before Friday—if the rains stopped.

Earlier in the evening, they toured the Port Clinton area, where mid-afternoon storms were accompanied by damaging winds that sent trees crashing to the ground and brought traffic to a standstill.

Port Clinton Mayor Gordon Cooper declared East Harbor State Park a disaster area and asked that the state supply chain saws to clear fallen timber.

Town Near Columbus
Takes A Real Beating

PLAIN CITY, Ohio (AP)—"You name it, we've had it," was the way one policeman appraised the weather situation in this small community Tuesday night.

And his observation would stand up for most of Ohio.

The Plain City policeman, Sgt. Bill Golden, added, "I've seen what tornadoes can do. This was a tornado."

Outside the police station, other policemen, highway patrolmen, electric company workers and railroad workers were trying to put the town back together again. They worked in the dark, since electrical power was cut off.

Three house trailers were flipped over, but there were no serious injuries reported. Several townspeople were treated for minor injuries. Police said they did not know the name of the hospitalized family nor where they were taken.

Church steeples were toppled, planes at an airport outside of town were wrecked and store fronts were blown out.

A dispatcher at Ohio Highway

Patrol headquarters in Columbus said, "Judging from the damage, Plain City had a tornado."

However, there were no funnel clouds sighted in the area. Plain City is about 20 miles northwest of Columbus, on the Union-Madison county line.

Shortly before midnight, fallen wires were cleared from railroad tracks west of town, allowing a Pennsylvania Railroad freight that was blocked for four hours to pass through.

Small tornadoes were sighted in Van Wert and Coldwater, in west-central Ohio, but damage wasn't as great as in Plain City.

The patrol said reports of roads blocked by flooding, fallen trees and wires were innumerable during the night as storms fanned out to the west and south from the rain-soaked Sandusky area.

Major portions of Van Wert and Lima were without power for several hours.

J. C. Holsinger Jr.

SALEM — John C. Holsinger Jr., 37, was found dead Tuesday afternoon at his trailer at Oz's Trailer Park at 410 Benton Rd.

Dr. William Kolozsi of Salem, Columbiana County coroner, ruled death was caused by a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Beresford found the victim's body after Mrs. John Ozimek, operator of the trailer court, said Mr. Holsinger's trailer was locked and he had not been seen for a couple of days. A former resident of New York City, Mr. Holsinger had resided here for about a month and was employed by the Salem Label Co. He was a Navy veteran. He was born Dec. 5, 1928, in Chicago, son of John C. Holsinger and Nancy W. Holsinger.

Double Funeral Rites Held
For Ex-Resident And Wife

A double funeral service was held in Baltimore Monday for a former East Liverpool area man and his wife, who were killed early Thursday morning when their car crashed into a concrete abutment on the Baltimore Beltway.

The victims were R. Guy (Jimmy) Armstrong Jr., 28, and Mrs. Grace Armstrong. Their two children still are in "very poor" condition at St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore as a result of the same crash.

They are Ginger Repass, 7, Mrs. Armstrong's daughter by a prior marriage, and Gregory Armstrong, 3.

The car crashed into the abutment at 3:31 a. m. as the family was headed home after a visit with Mr. Armstrong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Armstrong of Harwood, Md., formerly of Steubenville.

Born in Pennsylvania, Mr. Armstrong was reared in Steubenville. A groom on the race track circuit, he had worked at Waterford Park. He was employed at Pimlico Race Track at the time of his death. His wife was a native of the Baltimore area.

Miss Margo Owen Weds In Rites At Church Here

An Empire style, full-length gown was worn by Miss Margo Owen when she became the bride of Harold Dale Adkins the afternoon of June 25 at 2 o'clock in the Second United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of 775 Ohio Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Adkins of 2036 Michigan Ave.

The Rev. Donald C. Vogel of the First United Presbyterian Church of Chester officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Jean Russell presented a half-hour recital of organ music.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, which featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline and elbow-length sleeves and crepe sheath skirt. The Watteau panel train was attached with crepe bows.

Her headpiece of organza petals and pearlizes sprays held her four-tier veil of nylon illusion. She wore a hand-carved, white ivory rose pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

She carried an arrangement of white mums and rosebuds centered with an orchid. In observing the traditions, she carried a six pence in her shoe, borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. Ralph Deslier.

Mrs. James Leap of Northfield, N. J., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Juanita Adkins of New York City, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Joyce Rossman of Arlington, Ohio, and Miss Joanne Yost of Dayton.

They were attired in full-length gowns of maize crepe, designed along Empire lines and featuring overskirts. The bodices had scoop necklines, short sleeves and bows at the front of the waistlines. Their headpieces were formed of orange rosebuds. Maise color shoes and gloves completed their costumes. They carried arrangements of yellow mums, orange rosebuds and feather-leaf fern. Gifts from the bride were ivory rose pendants identical to hers.

Tracy and Trudy Adkins, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls and wore long gowns of whipped cream crepe, trimmed with moss-green velvet, and headpieces of orange rosebuds. They wore the lockets received from the bride and carried wicker baskets of flowers.

Dennis J. Adkins served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Cletus Miles, cousin of the bridegroom, Raymond Bigelow and Phillip Chan.

The mother of the bride chose a pink sheath with pink and white floral hat and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a powder blue brocade dress with matching jacket and white accessories. White orchid corsages complemented their attire.

A RECEPTION followed at Mary Patterson Memorial, where a yellow and white color theme predominated. The buffet table was centered with a four-tier cake, topped with wedding bells, and encircled with yellow carnations and Springeri green. Lighted tapers completed the setting.

Aides were Mrs. Clarence Shaw, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Richard Spahr, Miss Sherrill Dawson and Miss Jean Hickman.

Miss Frances Leon registered guests from Wellsville, Chester, Midland, Toronto, East Palestine, Weirton, Vienna, Lima, Canton, Akron, Kent, Barnesville, Bowling Green, Cleveland, Arlington, Toledo, Dayton, Currie, Wooster, Pittsburgh, New Jersey and New York.

Following the reception, a buffet supper was served for the bridal party and immediate families at the home of the bride's parents.

For her honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach, the bride wore a yellow sheath with white accessories and her bridal orchid.

The newlyweds are graduates of East Liverpool High School, the bride in 1962 and her husband in 1960. She was graduated in June from Bowling Green State University with a bachelor of science degree in education and has accepted a teaching position in the first grade of the Stow school system.

The bridegroom served three years in the Army. He attended Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, and now is enrolled at Kent State University, where he is majoring in health and physical education. He is employed by the Thorofare Supermarket.

The newlyweds are residing at 1834 Harvey Ave. until September, when they will move to Kent.

The bridegroom's parents entertained for the rehearsal party.

Nationals Produce 4th Straight Win In All-Star Classic

By MIKE RATHER Associated Press Sports Writer ST. LOUIS (AP) — "You read what an edge the National League has," said Detroit pitcher Denny McLain. "How their pitching is better, how their hitting is better. It's as if we're supposed to go out there and concede the game."

The American League didn't concede. But they didn't win either.

The National League did that, 2-1 in 10 innings.

Only in Tuesday's 37th All-Star Game it wasn't better pitching and it wasn't the powerful NL sluggers who took command. The job was accomplished with a pair of 10th-inning singles by Tim McCarver of St. Louis and Maury Wills of Los Angeles, and extended National League domination of the midsummer classic through 10 games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE heroes celebrate in their dressing room after a 2-1 win in 10 innings over the American Leaguers. The heroes are (left to right) Tim McCarver of the Cardinals and Maury Wills of the Dodgers shown with NL manager Walt Alston. Wills drove McCarver in with the winning run in the 10th. Athletic Board Discusses Basketball Starting Date

A discussion on athletic policy to change the starting date of basketball practice at East Liverpool High School to Nov. 1 was held when the ELHS Athletic Board met Monday night.

Principal Carl Peline, president of the Board, said an announcement will be made later on the start of basketball practice.

It is believed that the change in a local ruling will be made allowing the basketball team to start practice Nov. 1, the official starting time for Ohio schools.

A local ruling was made last year by Peline that basketball practice could not start until after the final football game and starting times for other sports would be changed so there would be no conflict of interests.

Griffith - Archer Bout Rated Even

By MURRAY ROSE Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith will come out with fists flying in an effort to score a quick knockout over Joey Archer tonight in their title fight if he follows the plans of his handlers.

Griffith was rated just an even money shot in the betting, however, against the New York challenger for their television 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Starting time is 10 p.m., EDT.

"I told Emile we don't want to take any chances on a close decision because the Irish will be out in full force to root for Archer," said trainer and co-manager Gil Clancy, an Irishman himself.

"I haven't been knocked out by anyone and I don't expect Griffith will do it either," said Archer. "I have weight, speed and desire going for me and I'm going to win. I've waited three years for this shot and I'm not going to miff it now."

Archer, at 160 pounds, probably will have from eight to 10 pounds on Griffith. The champion, who is involved in a court battle to retain his welterweight crown, weighed only 150½ when he dethroned 36-year-old Dick Tiger at the Garden April 25.

Griffith, 28, has a 9-2 record for welterweight title fights and 1-0 for the middleweight title. He is 50-7 overall. He has scored 18 knockouts and been stopped once. Rubin Carter did it in the first round.

Archer has a 46-2 record, including a decision over Carter. He has scored only eight knockouts. The handsome New York High School Athletic Association depends on his snapping jabs and fast footwork.

Whittington gave up a single to the lead off batter McCoy then in the final innings didn't allow a hit and struck out 13 batters.

Whittington also helped his own cause with a triple, double and single in three trips. Sam Carnahan tripled home the first two runs for Newell.

Rick Stevens was the losing pitcher.

The average annual attendance at New York's Radio City Music Hall is about eight million persons.

The heat was on the National League at first, despite the fact that the Dodgers' great left-hander, Sandy Koufax, was making his first All-Star start.

In the second inning, Brooks Robinson slammed a liner to left field. Hank Aaron of Atlanta started back, apparently lost the ball in the sun, then raced in, but was unable to make a shoestring catch. When he retrieved the ball Robinson was standing at third with a triple.

Boston's George Scott fouled out but Koufax then uncorked a wild pitch over the head of Atlanta catcher Joe Torre and Robinson raced home for a 1-0 lead. McLain protected that with three perfect innings, taking only 28 pitches to retire nine batters.

Willie Mays of San Francisco then started things for the National Leaguers against Jim Kaat of Minnesota, rifling a single to left in the fourth inning for his 22nd All-Star hit and extending his own record.

A single by Roberto Clemente and a grounder got Mays to third and he raced home on a dribbler down the third base line by Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs that went for a single. The run also extended another one of Mays' records, giving him 19 in All-Star competition.

It stayed 1-1 through a profusion of pitchers — Mel Stottlemyre of New York and Sonny Siebert of Cleveland for the American and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia and Juan Marichal of San Francisco for the National — until the 10th when Gaylord Perry of the Giants ran into trouble.

Brooks Robinson led off with a pop fly single, and immediately proceeded to second on a wild pitch.

"I felt good," Perry said. "Robinson broke his bat on that hit."

Still there was a conference as Manager Walt Alston trotted out.

"He was getting a little tired," said Alston. "I went out to talk to him to give him a little breather."

Perry went back to work. Detroit's Norm Cash flied out, Willie McCovey of San Francisco reached into the stands for a pop by New York's Bobby Richardson and Perry threw a third strike by California's Jim Fregosi.

Then Washington's Pete Richert, a left-hander, came in to pitch for the American with McCovey, also a left-hander, due up. The book called for a pinch hitter.

"It was no hunch to let McCovey bat against the left-hander," Alston explained. "He hits left-handers pretty well."

"I was on my own whether to bunt or hit away," Wills said. "A safe bunt would have been a great play — men on first and third."

Wills squared away as if to bunt, then pulled back on the pitch.

"I started to bunt, but it was a bad ball," he explained. "Then I noticed (Brooks) Robinson move a couple of steps at third, so I decided to hit away."

The hit didn't go to Robinson. It went to the opposite field, but fell in for a single that Tony Oliva of Minnesota grabbed on one hop and fired home — too late to get the sliding McCovey.

"Two-to-one," said McCovey later, "that's a laughter for Los Angeles."

But not the American League.

Dodger Star Is NL Hero

'Most Satisfying All-Star Game,' Claims Maury Wills

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — To little Maury Wills, anxious to prove he should have been the National League's starting shortstop in the All-Star game, "It seemed that I was on the bench a week waiting to get into the game."

Wills got his chance Tuesday in the 10th inning, his only time at bat. He came through with a single, scoring Tim McCarver of St. Louis and winning it 2-1 for the Nationals. He also made a dazzling catch in the ninth inning.

Baseball's base-stealing king and sparkplug of the Los Angeles Dodgers still wore a determined look as he walked from the steaming 102-degree heat of the playing field into the cool clubhouse. He was not smiling as he sat down in front of the wrong locker.

"Satisfying," said Wills softly. "Yes, that's what it was, my most satisfying All-Star game."

One newsmen, remembering Wills was miffed over being voted behind Cincinnati's Leo Cardenas, reminded him he wouldn't have had the chance as a starter to drive in the winning run.

"Yeah, but I might have scored a run earlier," he retorted.

A photographer asked Wills for a big smile and he replied, "I'll smile for you in October."

The Dodgers are third in the National League, five games back of the leading San Francisco Giants.

McCarver, who had singled and reached second on a sacrifice, didn't expect to get into the game.

"Just being here rates with the Series," said McCovey, hero of the Cardinals' 1964 World Series victory.

"Tim got a real good jump off second," said Harry Walker, third base coach. "Tim is fast and it certainly was worth the gamble."

The winning manager, Walt Alston of Los Angeles, praised his pitchers and the defensive play of Willie McCovey of San Francisco at first base.

In the American League clubhouse, starting pitcher Denny McLain of Detroit was listening to the 10th inning.

"Boy I'd like to beat these guys so bad I can taste it," he said.

After Wills' winning hit, he threw a towel to the floor in disgust.

McLain needed only 28 pitches for three innings of no-hit ball.

Brooks Robinson, the Baltimore third baseman, brushed aside compliments for being voted Most Valuable Player. He put it this way:

"It's nice, but when they win

Amateur Sports Officials Wait Decision On Communists

'Freeze' Extends To Basketball

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Communist bloc has dropped the other shoe with Poland joining Russia's boycott of scheduled track and field meets in the United States this month.

Now amateur sports officials are waiting to see whether the International Amateur Athletic Federation drops either shoe on the Communists.

The IAAF, headquartered in London, presides over track and field throughout the world and could administer a severe wrist slapping to Poland and Russia for failing to keep their commitments, a tactic the IAAF usually frowns upon. So far, it has remained silent.

Polish athletes were ready to leave for their scheduled meet at Berkeley, Calif., this week when word of the cancellation came Tuesday. The Russians had called off their July 23-24 meet in Los Angeles on Monday. American involvement in the war in Viet Nam was given as the reason for both pull-outs.

In Chicago, Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, said he deplored political influence in sports.

"Representatives of all countries have joined in denunciation of political influence," Brundage said. "In this case, the first reaction will come from the IAAF to determine if there is a violation of rules or principles."

Col. Don Hull, executive director of the Amateur Athletic Union, who is in Europe, said he would fly to Moscow to try and bind the split.

Hull told Glenn Davis, director of the Los Angeles meet, in a telephone conversation that he "could not believe the Soviet sports people would jeopardize their standing with the IAAF by failing to complete their contract to compete in Los Angeles."

The Communist sports freeze extended to basketball with the announcement that Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia were canceling games against a touring American all-star team.

The Americans opened their swing through Europe with a 104-81 victory over an Austrian team in Vienna Monday night but plans for the remainder of the trip were uncertain.

Meanwhile, the 19-member U.S. swimming team arrived in Moscow to compete in an international meet this weekend. The team was treated routinely in line with the Soviet announcement that it would take no action in events involving other countries besides the United States. The meet involves a number of countries besides the United States and Russia.

Plans went ahead in Berkeley and Los Angeles for replacement meets. The Berkeley meet was renamed the All-American Invitational and Los Angeles promoters invited Australian and New Zealand teams to compete in their meet.

Frederick Humphreys, manager of the Australian track and field squad, said he thought the Australians would accept the invitation.

At the same time, the Russians and Poles agreed to compete against each other at Minsk, Russia, July 23-24, the weekend the Soviets were to be in Los Angeles.

Polish officials seemed saddened over the cancellation and so were the American athletes.

"If only the Russians had waited a day or two to announce their decision," said one Pole, "we would have been on our way."

The announcement came only hours before the Polish delegation was to leave for the United States.

Ralph Boston, veteran Olympian and holder of the world record in the broad jump, called the Polish cancellation unfortunate. "There always had been good relations between the athletes," Boston said.

The Americans lost to the Russian men 118-112 at Kiev last summer after winning six of the previous seven meets. At Warsaw last year, the Americans beat the Poles 118-93.

Bucs Recall Michael To Fill Rodgers Spot

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today they have recalled infielder Gene Michael from their Columbus, Ohio, farm club to replace injured Andre Rodgers.

Rodgers, who has a torn rib muscle, was placed on the disabled list Tuesday.

Michael, 27, was the Jets regular shortstop this season and batted .281 in 72 games with two home runs and 19 RBIs. He is from Kent, Ohio.

Nearly seven-eighths of the total area of Jordan is desert.

Salem Stops Dentists, 3-0, On 1-Hitter

Farber Tinsley hurled a one-hitter as Salem blanked the Dentists 3-0 in the Colt League Tuesday.

Tinsley was in control all the way as Salem scored a single run in the second and two more in the sixth off Jim Duffy the losing hurler.

Palmer had two hits and drove in a pair of runs for Salem while Kidder had the only hit for the Dentists.

Viet War Claims Former Grid Ace

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Army Capt. Sherril V. Brown, at 145 pounds one of the smallest all-city fullbacks in Pittsburgh's football history, has been killed in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department announced Tuesday the 27-year-old resident of suburban Wilkinsburg was killed Sunday by a land mine.

Brown played for Westinghouse High School in 1954 and 1955.

"He had tremendous ability and was one of the best and smartest players I ever coached," said Pete Dimperio, Westinghouse coach.

He is survived by his widow, Lelia, and daughter, Paris, 4.

Woodbine, Bright's Post Victories In Pony League

Woodbine staged its most awesome hitting attack to whip Sevy's 14-7 and George Bright's Real Estate scored a 10-2 victory over Litten's Tuesday to take over first place in the Pony League.

The Woodbine-Sevy contest was featured by two grand slam home runs. Rick Shuck bombed one for Woodbine while Fred Brown connected for Sevy's. Mike Smith was the winning pitcher as his teammates backed him with 14 hits including four by Welsh and three by Badgley. Welsh also homered for the winners and Joe March, the losing hurler connected for Sevy's.

Jim Lynch, Woodbine centerfielder, made a fine shoe string catch of a ball to end the contest.

Bright's moved into first place for the first time in four years with Kemple hurling a three-hitter. Joe Walker pounded in four runs with a home run, double and single to lead a 10-hit attack. Litten's could only collect three singles off Kemple. Parson was the losing pitcher.

Ninoski Wants To Go Where The Action Is

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Jim Ninoski, probably one of the highest paid non-playing quarterbacks in pro football, has not yet signed his 1966 contract with the Cleveland Browns, and there is speculation that he won't sign until he sees what the chances are of being traded.

Ninoski, who spent virtually all last season on the bench while Frank Ryan handled the passing chores, reportedly is paid as well or better than many first-line quarterbacks in the National Football League.

But the 30-year-old passer wants to play, and Coach Blanton Collier has made it clear that Ryan is his quarterback as long as he is healthy.

Ninoski conferred with Browns owner Art Modell Tuesday, and it was reported afterward that Ninoski might be available for a trade if the right offer came along.

Pirates To Hold Camp At Weirton Field Saturday

A Pittsburgh Pirate tryout camp will be held for area youths at the Weirton Community Center field Saturday.

The session will be under the direction of Syd Thrift of Fairfax, Va., scouting director, along with Jim Vennari of Midleport and Joe Consoli of Baltimore, Md., scouts.

Players should report ready to start at 9 a.m. for the workouts which will last until 2 p.m.

Players must be at least 16 to be eligible, and no Junior American Legion players will be permitted to take part if such participation would interfere with legion activities.

Such participation will be permitted only if the player has a letter of approval from his Legion coach or the commander of the Post for which he plays.

Players are to furnish their own shoes, gloves, uniforms and personal items, while the Pirates will provide other equipment.

Players will be responsible for travel and living expenses.

64 Of Ohio's Top Golfers Seek Crown

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Sixty-four of the state's finest players plunged into first round match competition today seeking the Ohio Amateur Golf Tournament championship.

The second 18-hole qualifying test of the 60th annual tournament was washed down the drain Tuesday when severe thunderstorms pelted the city and left the 6,320-yard Toledo Country Club course unplayable.

Tournament officials waited as long as they could before calling a halt in mid-afternoon with slightly more than half the field of 165 in the clubhouse.

All the scores were washed out and the qualifier reverted to Monday's 18-hole round. That gave medalist honors to 32-year-old Fritz Schmidt of Columbus, who posted a three-under par 7.

Schmidt, a former Ohio State golf star, got an early start Tuesday and came in with a 72, the best card of any of the finishers. His round included two birds and four bogies.

His closest rivals, Pandel Sr. of Columbus and Bob Littler Jr., of Athens, had played only a few holes when the rains came.

Double rounds today and Thursday were to reduce the field from 64 to four semifinalists. The 18-hole finale is set for Friday afternoon.

Today's first round was preceded by a 16-man playoff for one match berth. There were 62 scores of 73 or better in Monday's qualifier and defending champion Dick Flockenzier of Mansfield automatically qualified. That left one vacancy and the 16 golfers deadlocked at 79 were to battle it out.

Flockenzier faced Don Carmichael of Columbus, the 1960 champion, in one of the day's top attractions.

None Injured In 4 District Car Mishaps

No one was injured in a series of four traffic mishaps through Columbiana County Tuesday in which a car rammed a bridge.

knocking part of it into a creek, another car went over an embankment after the brakes failed and a third almost went over a steep hill after the crash, prevented only by a guard rail holding the rear wheels.

Dena M. Hill, 19, of 124 E. Main St., Salineville, escaped injury when her 1966 coupe caught on the guard rails along Route 39 about 6 1/2 miles west of Wellsville yesterday afternoon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

She was headed east when her car was struck by an oncoming auto operated by Gary E. Earich, 30, of 503 Jefferson St., Salineville, which had drifted left of the center line.

Her car ran off the right side of the road, hit the guard rail and went partially over a steep embankment, held only by the rear wheels hooked on the rails, officers said.

Earich was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Barry L. Whitaker, 19, of Maple Hill, Salineville, also was unhurt after his 1961 coach veered off Township Rd. 755 a mile north of Salineville about 9 p.m., hit a bridge and went over an embankment.

Officers said Whitaker was traveling north when his car left the roadway at a curve, traveled 160 feet before hitting the bridge, and continued on and went over the embankment. The patrol said he traveled a total of 240 feet out of control.

He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance, officers said. Part of the sandstone bridge was knocked off by the impact and went into the creek bed.

A 1960 sedan driven by Elizabeth Catherine Todd, 17, of 1105 Center St., received moderate damage when it traveled a distance down hill along Route 45 just north of Wellsville last night without brakes.

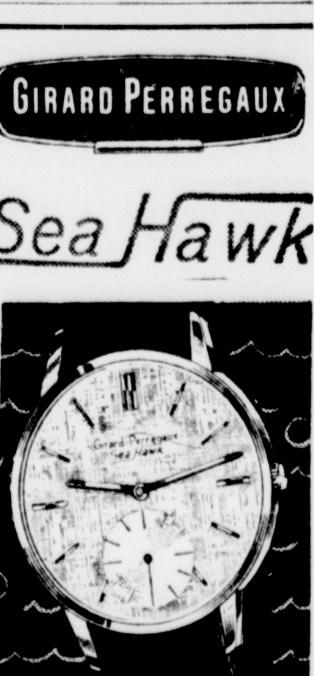

The patrol said the driver was headed south when the brakes failed, and she rode the auto along the east berm until the vehicle halted. She and three other girls returning from cheerleader practice were not hurt.

Carl E. Jessup, 36, of Columbiana R. D. 1 was cited after his car collided with a panel truck on Route 46 a mile west of Route 558 at 1:45 p.m.

Officers said Jessup's 1964 sedan went left of center and collided with the truck operated by Joseph Pesek, 21, of Mercer, Pa. Jessup failed to halt, and was cited for failure to stop after an accident.

Midland School Board Officially OK's Budget

The tentative budget of $942,661 for 1966-67 was adopted without change when the Midland school board met Monday night, with Maurice J. Newman presiding.

The budget is a decrease from the $960,128 approved for the present year, although an increase in taxes from 38 mills to 42 mills has been authorized for the coming year.

Officials explained the new budget will not require deficit financing as in the past few years, pointing to the $210,000 bond issue which was approved to pay off most debts and to provide for capital improvements.

The increase in taxes is needed to provide for increased operating expenses and other enlarged expenditures, it was explained.

Last year's budget provided for the borrowing of money to meet the deficit of the previous year of 1964. Thus, with the elimination of the need to borrow for the coming year, the taxes have been raised to meet actual needs and prevent deficit financing and the need to borrow again next year.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Zapsie of Beaver, a third-grade teacher at 1st St. School, and Mrs. Dulce Serrano of Midland, Spanish teacher at Lincoln High School.

Miss Jean Musser of Enon Valley, a June graduate of Geneva College, was hired as an elementary music instructor.

The board approved the attendance of the board members, board secretary and the solicitor at the Pennsylvania School Boards Association summer conference at Indiana (Pa.) University Friday through Sunday and the attendance of Wilbur Dirshimer and Henry Kuzma at the superintendents' and principals' conference at State College through Thursday.

All school districts in Beaver County which have signed to be sponsors of the Beaver County Community College received a request from the Beaver County school office to accept Patterson Township and West Mayfield Borough School Districts as additional sponsors of the college. The board okayed the acceptance.

John F. Shovlin III was appointed to serve on a planning committee for a community college convention tentatively scheduled for July 27, in accordance with a request received from the office of the county superintendent.

Bills in the amount of $8,810.55 were approved for payment.

Current vacancies on the Midland teaching staff include second grade, sixth grade, high school Spanish, Home Economics and two vacancies in the math department.

The board suggested the possibility of combining either Spanish or math with assistant football coaching. The position of elementary principal is also vacant.

The board will hold a special meeting July 22 to conduct general business and to attempt to fill vacancies on the teaching staff.

Retiring Camp Fire Aide Honored At Farewell Tea

Mrs. Harry Wilson of Bradshaw Ave. was honored with a farewell tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louis Tobin of St. Clair Ave.

She is retiring after eight years service as secretary of Kinoka Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., in the offices at the Potters Savings and Loan Co.

Guests at the open house reception included current and former members of the board, leaders, assistant leaders and committee members.

Charter members of the sponsoring group present were Mrs. William Ogilvie, Mrs. Charles Gerace, Mrs. Charles Bosco, Mrs. J. A. Monasky, Mrs. P. R. Blake, Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, Mrs. V. E. McElowney, Miss Helen Auld and Mrs. Sidney Porter.

Miss Susan Jones, the newly-appointed secretary, was introduced.

Refreshments were served 50 at a buffet table covered with a cut-work Venetian lace cloth and centered with a silver bowl of carnations, spider mums and baby breath flanked by red tapers.

Mrs. Larry Walton, president of Kinoka Council, and Mrs. Harry Faulk, president of the Leaders Association, poured at the silver service.

Mrs. Tobin, chairman of the personnel committee, was assisted by Mrs. Richard Bonistalli and Mrs. Sanford Midler, the case will be dismissed on members, Mrs. Dan Henderson, administrative secretary; Miss Bridget Tobin, Miss Rachel Tobin, Miss Katherine Bonistalli and Miss Mary Catherine Sherwood.

Bench Warrants Issued For Pair On Tax Charges

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today issued bench warrants for two men who failed to appear for scheduled hearings on charges of violating the city income tax ordinance.

The defendants are Joseph Frable of 804 Chester Ave. and John Disch of 750 Minerva St. Each is accused of failure to file a final return on 1965 income or furnish an estimate on 1966 earnings. The affidavits were signed by Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson.

The judge dismissed a similar charge against Ralph W. Burson of 804 Chester Ave. after Wilkinson reported Burson had paid the tax allegedly due. Burson was ordered to pay the costs.

Glenn Miller of 314 Ogden St. was arraigned today on the same charges of failure to file reports. He told the judge he "forgot." The judge ordered Miller to accompany Wilkinson to the tax office and arrange a settlement. If the tax is paid, the case will be dismissed on payment of costs, he said.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Are Hefty Thighs Inherited?

"What, if anything, can be done about the mottled, lumpy appearance of the thighs? Is this part and parcel of the middle-age spread? Are hefty thighs inherited? And by the way, have the fashion designers gone mad? Please suggest exercise that might help. Help!"

Ida Jean Kain

Questions about the thighs are asked repeatedly in summer, particularly this summer of skimpy skirts and high rise hemlines. Yes, designers appear to have lost their reason. But, let's not press the panic button. Hold the skirtline to cover the knee, unless you are under 23!

WE INHERIT our body frame, and along with this the limbs of the family tree. A tendency to slender or stocky legs and thighs is inherited. But a mottled, lumpy appearance only can be caused by poor circulation, toneless muscles and excess fat.

With flabby musculature generally, the thighs, especially along the inner and outer borders, are likely to be in need of toning. These muscles are not used in ordinary movements, such as standing and walking.

Check on routine movements. For instance, in rising from a chair, be sure to use the thigh muscles. Don't assist with your arms, or bend forward, hips trailing rearward as you help yourself up. Keep your back straight, hoist with thigh muscles. In walking, make sure to point your toes straight ahead, weight toward the outer borders of your feet.

Now the exercise: To stimulate circulation, get into action with an in-and-out swing of the legs from the hips.

Position: Lying on back of floor, arms out on floor at sides, legs straight up in air at right angles with trunk. In this position you are free to exercise the thighs. Keep knees straight, toes pulled toward instep to contract the muscles.

ACTION: Swing legs as wide apart as comfortable, then swing inward, crossing one leg over the other, swing wide apart again and then swing in the cross again. Begin with 10 counts, increase to twenty or more. It's fun and freeing — fat freeing.

R-o-l-l off the bulges. Position: Sit on floor, lean slightly back to bring weight to bear on bulge, arms out at sides. To clear the way for a rolling action all along the thighline, bend knees sharply.

Action: Slowly and heavily r-o-l-l along one thighline, back across rear hips and on over to other thighline. Make this a continuous rolling action for 20 counts.

For leg beautifying exercise, walk on the beach in shifting sand in your bare feet every chance you get.

Astronauts Run Through Another Day Of Key Tests

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 10 astronauts run through a second day of practice today for next Monday's double rendezvous and space-walk launching.

Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins planned to spend much of the day in their spacecraft atop a Titan 2 rocket, rehearsing major portions of the three-day mission.

The launch crews passed a major test Tuesday with a flawless countdown simulation with the two rockets involved.

An Atlas is to lift off at 4:41 p.m. EDT Monday to boost an Agena target satellite into orbit. A Titan 2 is to loft the astronauts skyward at 6:21 p.m. EDT.

Young and Collins are to dock with the Agena and later rendezvous with an Agena left in space after the Gemini 8 flight last March. Collins plans two 55-minute sessions outside the spacecraft.

An Important Announcement

The Secretary of Agriculture announced June 29, 1966, that effective July 1, 1966 through March 1, 1967, the price supports for manufacturing milk have been raised to $4.00 per cwt., an increase of 50c, or 14%.

As retailers we are convinced the Secretary had no other choice—but also as retailers we want you, the customer, to understand why all of our suppliers must charge more for all milk and milk base products such as ice cream, butter and cheese next week—an increase which we must pass on to you.

Amidst a great hue and cry about price changes you, the customer, must understand that price advances and declines begin with the manufacturer. Thorofare's policy is to move slower on advances—faster on declines—than any other food store.

We list a few important price drops to help offset pending milk products advances:

the agreement and have not been struck.

Other nonstruck airlines have contracts with mechanics represented by the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union.

The strike's impact continued to grow in intensity and variation across the nation.

The chief dispute is over a union demand for wage increases of about 53 cents an hour over a three-year contract period. The company has indicated it would offer slightly more than the 44-to-48 cents recommended by a presidential panel over the same period.

Tuesday's halt in talks was announced by Joseph W. Ramsey, IAM vice president, who said that Northwest "fouled up the talks by issuing an order in Tokyo depriving its employees of credit arrangements and requiring them to immediately start paying rent for living quarters." Previously, such payments — as much as $330 monthly for three-bedroom units — had been deducted from the employees' cost of living allowances.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, presiding over the negotiations, described the dispute as a "serious impediment" to a settlement.

Reynolds added that the talks had been going fairly well until the new development.

Two Upsets Mark Voting During Virginia Primary

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Democratic primary upsets of Virginia's senior pillars of conservatism in both houses of Congress sent tremors through the state's political structure today. In three key races in the Tuesday election only Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. managed to win over the moderate to liberal challengers seeking to restyle the state party image. By the slimmest of margins — less than one-half of one percent of the vote — Sen. A. Willis Robertson, 79, lost a see-saw fight to State Sen. William B. Spong Jr., 45, a Portsmouth attorney. The margin of defeat was essentially the same for Rep. Howard W. Smith, 83, dean of the Virginia congressional delegation and chairman of the House Rules Committee. Winner of that race was George C. Rawlings Jr., state legislator from Fredericksburg. And Byrd's victory margin was only one per cent in a relatively tight vote of less than 435-

000. The rival camps had forecast a vote of a half million or better. Byrd defeated former State Sen. Armistead L. Boothe of Alexandria. The unofficial Senate vote with only 10 of the state's 2,063 precincts still out showed: Robertson 216,420, Spong 216,899, Byrd 221,512, Boothe 213,227. Complete unofficial returns from the 262 precincts in Smith's sprawling north central Virginia 8th Congressional District were: Smith 26,521, Rawlings 26,885.

There were two other primaries for the House which didn't shape up as real contests. Rep. Watkins M. Abbott, state Democratic party chairman, easily trounced a political unknown, Lewis Curling, a Chesapeake attorney, in the southern agricultural 4th District. In the other race, Clive L. DuVal II, an attorney, trounced Thomas H. Woods, a travel agent, for the party nomination in the northern Virginia 10th District to oppose Republican Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, a member of Congress since 1952.

The outcome in the major races — two upsets and close victory by Byrd who was regarded as a heavy favorite to win nomination for the four years remaining in the unexpired term of his father — almost certainly will cause some adjustments in the party outlook. Some knowledgeable Democratic leaders regarded the results as a partial ratification — at least — of the gradual shift of sentiment that showed in the 1964 election when President Johnson carried the state into the Democratic column for the first time since President Truman did it in 1948.

Former Sen. Byrd Sr., patriarch of the organization, Robertson and Smith took no part for the national ticket in 1964. Further shifts of attitude were apparent in the legislature this year with a sudden loosening of purse strings for education and modernization of the state's attitude toward the expansion of public services generally.

But all of the change wasn't obviously in one direction and practical party politics kept the flow uneven. Sidney S. Kellam, Democratic national committeeman, of Virginia Beach, one of the organization powers, supported both Byrd and Robertson. Yet two years ago it was Kellam, as much as any individual, who helped swing the state to President Johnson. The narrow Spong victory was directed by William C. Battle, his father, a former governor who came up through the Byrd organization, gave the moderate Spong a warm endorsement in the closing days of the campaign which could have provided the necessary nudge to victory.

Robertson's age vs. Spong's comparative youth and the issue of campaign financing, though, were the major campaign factors. Banking sources disclosed they were conducting campaign fund drives as a way of saying "thank you" to Robertson — who is chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. Robertson's campaigners declined to disclose the amount or source of his campaign war chest in advance of the primary. Spong made a public accounting of what he said were total contributions received. Smith expressed no grave concern at the apparent loss of his first political campaign in 60 years of public life. "I will wait until I am convinced that there is no mistake in the tabulation," he said. "If the figures hold up, alright, alright."

Smith thus indicated he might forego asking for a recount which state law allows in elections for the House of Representatives if 500 votes or less separate the winner and loser.

Midshipman Begins His Summer Training

Midshipman 2C Roger Vincent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shirl Vincent of Calcutta Acres, has left for summer training at the naval amphibious base at Little Creek, Va., and will proceed to the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Tex., for flight indoctrination. He is detached from the NROTC unit at Ohio State University, Columbus, where he is a regular midshipman on full Navy scholarship. He will be a junior next fall in the College of Engineering. "The Land between the Lakes" in Kentucky refers to two lakes that did not exist a generation ago. On one side is Kentucky Lake, formed when Kentucky Dam impounded the Tennessee River in 1944. The other is Lake Barkley, which began forming in 1965 when the gates were closed at Barkley Dam on the Cumberland River.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD K. DOAN

Sparger-Nielsen Case Needs Airing

Hal Humphrey

When crusading Rex Sparger, the self-proclaimed "rating fixer," was found to have tampered with the Nielsen rating sample, the business deal with the Nielsen Co. was ended. Well, I guess that wipes out Sparger and the whole rating mess.

Of course the Nielsen Co. and the major TV networks would like to close this unsavory chapter by simply discrediting Sparger as a witness. The fact remains, however, that the Nielsen rating sample of 1,100 families is open to rigging.

Whether former congressional investigator Sparger did it for fun, as he first claimed, or for profit as Nielsen now is trying to prove is not really what the TV industry or the public should be concerned over.

Before Sparger accepted this fee from Charles Lowe (Miss Channing's mate) for ostensibly conducting a survey to determine public acceptance of the Feb. 18 Carol Channing special, the same Sparger already had attempted manipulating the Nielsen rating for the Bob Hope Viet Nam Christmas special, the "Bewitched" series and the Orange Bowl Football telecast.

He now says, too, that he has proof of "additional undiscovered rigging" — not only by himself, but from within their own company (Nielsen).

THIS IS a serious charge and it is time the federal communications commissioners take a hard look before everything is swept under the rug.

Again, according to Sparger, the Nielsen people were willing to settle their $1.5 million damage suit against him last week and forget the discovery of Lowe's $4,000 check. If Sparger acceded to certain conditions including their right to censor the book he is writing on TV ratings.

At the subterfuge thickens in the case of Nielsen vs. Sparger, the necessity for a full-scale FCC investigation becomes more obvious. Tremendous pressure must be built up already to prevent such an outside probe.

In this respect the Nielsen Sparger affair parallels the quiz show scandal of 1958-59 when people perjured themselves before a New York grand jury to obscure what really had happened.

THE RIGGING of a quiz show on TV does not begin to compare in importance with the rigging of a national rating sample, which determines to a large extent the type of quality programs seen by millions of TV viewers each night of the week.

The FCC may not have legal means for trying to improve the content of TV, but certainly it has the right and duty to determine if the public and commercial sponsors are being defrauded by ratings which do not accurately enough reflect the viewers' choice.

It's been more than three years since a congressional committee (Sparger was one of the investigators) amassed volumes of testimony proving quite conclusively that TV and radio ratings, including the famous Nielsen rating, were far from efficient and accurate.

The TV industry set up a committee to study the matter, and it recently whitewashed the rating people by admitting some laxity had existed, but saving all of it had been remedied.

MEANWHILE, along comes Sparger to prove that ratings are easier to rig than robbing a bank, and perhaps even more profitable in the long run. And Nielsen, who says his security against rigging is A-1, does not even bother to relocate the Audimeters on the TV sets in the homes where Sparger mailed his "questionnaires" and or made his phone calls.

In another eight weeks the three major networks will be premiering a new season of some 40 weekly shows, and two weeks after that the first Nielsen rating book will be sent out to the TV industry purporting to tell which of these new shows are most popular with millions of viewers.

But the information all will be based on tapes from 1,100 Audimeters on TV sets in homes where the occupants by now must feel like celebrities themselves, instead of a cross-section of an American TV audience.

At the subterfuge thickens in the case of Nielsen vs. Sparger, the necessity for a full-scale FCC investigation becomes more obvious. Tremendous pressure must be built up already to prevent such an outside probe.

State Doesn't Have To Pay, Court Rules Again On Boat

CHARLESTON, Pa. — The West Virginia Supreme Court, for the second time, has ruled that the state is not obligated to pay for the hapless towboat Mary Alice, which at one time made up half of West Virginia's river fleet.

But the court did not say the firm could not try to take such $20,500 for the Mary Alice, used until last February to push the Showboat Rhododendron.

The Supreme Court's decision, written by President Judge Fred Caplan, held that the Natural Resources Department signed a contract for the sale of the Mary Alice on May 31, 1965.

But the court noted that the legislature did not appropriate money for the Mary Alice until after the start of the 1965-66 fiscal year, which starts on July 1.

Thus, the decision said, it is unlawful for the state to obligate funds from one fiscal year to the next.

Point Towing also had asked the Supreme Court, as an alternative, to require the state to begin proceedings for eminent domain or condemnation (that would bring about payment to the state's navy — the Showboat Rhododendron — is expected to be sold by the state soon.

Shaffer, Shapp Offer Plans To Assist Law Enforcement

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shaffer, Republican gubernatorial nominee, and his Democratic opponent, Milton J. Shapp, have proposed methods for upgrading state law enforcement.

Shaffer outlined a broad four-point state-wide campaign to facilitate crime-fighting and within one population, it must Shapp has proposed a state training program and a state salary minimum salary for police and firemen.

Both spoke at the biennial conference of the Pennsylvania Fraternal Order of Police Tuesday.

The four points of Shaffer's plan as outlined were: — Help all citizens understand the role of law-enforcement officers through educational programs to create mutual respect; — Revise the state constitution to assure court reform, especially at lower levels, and to remove judges from politics; — Revise the state's penal code, which, Shaffer said, is virtually unchanged since the Civil War.

Assign lawyers to help police carry out the recent mandate of the U.S. Supreme Court to advise suspects of their legal rights before making statements or confessions; — Shaffer also reiterated his plea for amendments to the state's wiretapping laws to permit policemen, with the approval of police officers, to use wiretapping to fight "serious crimes."

Shapp said his proposed state subsidized minimum salary for police officers will be given all of the courts, to tap into the state's police force, to help them fight "serious crimes."

10-20 Years Faced In Deaf Mute Slaying

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A former Columbus, Ohio, woman faces 10-20 years imprisonment for her part in a Buffalo tavern robbery in which a deaf mute was shot to death.

Police accused Miss Carla Leach, 22, of shooting John Johnkins, 35, of Buffalo, after he failed to hear an order to lie down when the holdup occurred in January 1964.

The sentence came in court here Tuesday after Miss Leach had pleaded guilty to a charge of first-degree manslaughter. She had been indicted on a charge of first-degree murder. Her accomplice in the holdup, Robert L. Hayes, 38, also a former Columbus resident, was sentenced earlier to an 8½ to 17-year term for second degree assault and illegal possession of a firearm.

$4 Million Damages Asked In Armco Suit

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (AP) — The Armco Steel Corp. has filed a $4 million damage suit against Local 1865 and the United Steelworkers of America, AFL - CIO, headquartered in Pittsburgh.

The suit, filed in Eastern Kentucky Federal Court, claims two work stoppages in April at Armco's Ashland plant were in violation of a no-strike clause of the contract negotiated last year.

One work stoppage lasted 10 days and the second 20 hours. Members of Local 1865, who set up picket lines, claimed the company violated various provisions of the contract.

The Salvation Army in the United States maintains 36 homes and hospitals for the care of unwed mothers.

Various Matters Discussed At Dahlia Society Meeting

Schedules of the 41st annual show in the fall and other matters were discussed when the East Liverpool Dahlia and Floral Society met Monday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex. William Haugh, president, presided.

The schedules for the show, which is set Sept. 24-25 at Westgate School, may be obtained from any member.

A discussion on the mid-summer care of dahlias was led by Haugh and Harold Shannabrook of Massillon, a member of the local group. His wife, who is also a member of the local society, was present.

Air Tours Held Despite Weather

LISBON — Hot, humid, hazy weather did not prevent the Columbiana County conservation air tour from taking off this morning.

Flights are scheduled until 8 p.m. today from Loudon Air strip on Route 172, west of New Garden.

Several three-place planes are on the line to take passengers on a 25-minute flight across the county midlands. The price is $3.50.

Nearly 250 made the conservation air tour last July on a day nearly identical in weather conditions.

Sponsors are the County Extension Service, Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District and the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

A GOOD LUCK HANDSHAKE was exchanged by Charles B. Lang, left, and State Atty. Gen. William Saxbe when the latter stopped off here Tuesday morning for a public breakfast at the Travelers Hotel. Saxbe then attended a noon luncheon at Lisbon and held a short session at Salem as he continued his campaign for re-election. Lang, local attorney, is chairman of the county "Saxbe for Attorney General Committee."

★ ★ ★ GOP Gain Seen Likely In Labor, Negro Vote

LISBON — Atty. Gen. William Saxbe says the Republican party has a great opportunity to win the support of organized labor and Negro organizations at the general election Nov. 8.

Speaking to 70 at a luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Wick Hotel, Saxbe said there is a general indifference on the part of labor toward the Democrats. "By being 100 per cent Democrat, they (labor) have sold out any right to support from the Republican party and they need that support," Saxbe said.

The Democrats "talked about" giving the Negroes work, but the Republicans "have done it," he continued. "This has been good for the GOP and good for the administration because we have obtained many skilled workers in important positions."

Saxbe is off to an early start in his campaign for a third term. He said he has been campaigning three days a week the past month. "My idea is that if individual candidates get out in the dog days of the campaign, we can help the local organizations keep the ball rolling and organize for the fall. I find a very good morale throughout the state. Republican organizations are the best I have seen in many years; they are enthusiastic and working."

Saxbe said it is very important that Republicans elect members to the legislature so the party can have a hand in working out a fair and equitable plan for the reapportionment bill. He said this is a temporary measure, but the next legislature will no doubt put together a constitutional change for vote of the people of Ohio.

Saxbe noted Columbiana County is still an integral unit and "is fortunate to have a candidate such as State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon, who can run and win for this 99-member assembly."

The speaker also asked support for two Salem men — William H. Weir, candidate for 18th District congressman, and John Longworth, who is running for state senator.

Bonds Signed For 2 Plants

A total of $24 million in industrial development bonds for the construction of two Air Reduction Co. plants in Hancock County was signed Tuesday night in New York City by James Finley, president of the Hancock County Court of Commissioners, and George Konchar, county clerk.

The action followed a decision by Circuit Court Judge James G. McClure of Wheeling dissolving a temporary injunction at the New Cumberland courthouse Monday in approving construction of the Airco plants.

Representatives of Hawkins, Dellfield & Wood, New York bond consultants, flew to New Cumberland Tuesday to determine if there would be any legal barriers to current or future negotiations.

The sale of the 17-year bonds to Blythe & Co., an investment firm, at an interest rate of 4 3/4 per cent was completed following their return to New York.

The construction of the two Airco plants will be financed by the bonds, the title to the plants being in the name of the county court until the bonds are paid off in 1983.

Newell Pottery Struck By Fire

A fire this morning at the No. 7 loading dock of the Homer Laughlin China Co. destroyed a high-lift truck and damaged a storage shed and a roof.

Newell firemen were summoned about 9:40 by a maintenance employee while two other employees used dry chemical extinguishers to contain the blaze until firemen arrived.

Damage was estimated at $800.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. An investigation is continuing.

As Four-Lane Highways Take Over

Bypasses Some Times Bring Boom

By SANDOR M. POLSTER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Summer tourist traffic now speeds around Ohio small towns on four-lane superhighways instead of creeping down Main Street.

Interstate highway construction has left some small town businesses standing still. Abandoned service stations and declining motels in some areas stand as symbols of highway progress which moved traffic off older roads.

But the same bypasses which take travelers off Main Street bring booms to other towns and other areas. Some primarily rural cities now find business booming because a superhighway touched them. Areas along bypasses outside older cities sprout with new businesses.

St. Clairsville, Kirtsville, Hebron and Circleville have felt the effects of new highways. So has Lebanon, which now finds itself astride a main route linking two new interstate roads.

In almost every community abandoned by highway traffic on Main Street, the economy sags. But benefits from the bypass, in most cases, offset the disadvantages. Highway department studies provide illustrations and statistics.

St. Clairsville is an example. A freeway bypass was built about a mile south of the town in 1958. At first, most of the 4,000 residents expected serious economic decreases.

The bust came, but the town survived. Now, Mayor W. K. Turner said, the relief from the pre-freeway traffic congestion and parking problems has allowed townspeople to do more business in the downtown area.

St. Clairsville streets are narrow. When U.S. Route 40 ran down Main Street, 10,000 cars passed through the town every 24 hours. This traffic discouraged business.

In 1964, when the Highway Department studied the town's traffic flow, the rate of 24-hour traffic on Main Street fell to 2,640 vehicles.

Kirtsville has proof of the economic bust resulting from a highway bypass: Two restaurants in the community of 400 persons closed.

Circleville suffered economic setbacks also, but the pre-bypass businesses remained intact and none ceased operation.

St. Clairsville lost a restaurant and a gas station along old U.S. 40.

The service station was sold because of lost trade and profits, and when the restaurant burned down, "it wasn't financially feasible to rebuild it," Charles W. McNell, executive secretary of the St. Clairsville Board of Trade, said.

Some businesses showed considerable losses during the year following the freeway opening.

Gas stations on what used to be U.S. 40 had lost nearly 22 per cent of their business in the second half of 1958.

Restaurant business dropped off about 41 per cent, and motel business fell 45 per cent.

To compensate for this lost trade, the town became a residential area. Since the opening

County To Have Three Delegates At Bureau School

LISBON — Columbiana County will have three delegates at the annual Farm Bureau youth training school Sunday through Friday at Kent State University.

Attending will be Patricia Schoeni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schoeni, Beloit R. D. 2; Jean Serafy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Serafy of Wellsville R. D. 1, and Donald Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hartley of New Waterloo R. D. 1.

More than 125 youths from 20 counties are expected at Kent for the northeast region school, one of five being held by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation in cooperation with county farm bureaus.

Darwin Bryan, school director, said the program is based on the theme "Democracy in Action" and is planned as an educational experience. "They actually learn by doing; they get a chance to participate in all phases of the Farm Bureau Federation's governing structure during the one-week session."

Elective classes will be offered in effective speaking, vocational and college information, musical "chitchat," social dancing, non-musical games and square dance calling.

Specialists May Return To Viet Nam In Hurry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Army helicopter pilots and others with critical military specialties will find themselves sent back to Viet Nam faster than they expected, it was learned today.

A decision has been made to shorten the time between involuntary tours for certain badly needed specialists, the Army said.

The demand has rocketed for helicopter pilots and mechanics, in particular, while the supply has not been able to keep pace.

The Army is making strong efforts to produce thousands of new chopper crewmen and maintenance personnel. This is expected to cure the situation in time.

Sewage Plan Given Airing At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A proposal through which the Columbiana County commissioners would construct a sewage treatment plant and assess the costs to the village was presented during a special meeting of Council Tuesday night.

The proposal is part of a report submitted by William McKenna of Quicksall Engineering Co. of New Philadelphia.

The engineering firm has been preparing a countywide survey on sewage problems under the auspices of the commissioners.

McKenna and Sherman Quigley, who is heading the sewage project for the commissioners, attended the meeting to outline the proposal that covers Salineville and the surrounding area.

McKenna said it is recommended that a treatment plant be constructed outside the village. The village then would pay a monthly fee to the commissioners. The village would be responsible for all the lines inside the limits. No estimates were made.

Under the proposal, there would be two separate operations — the lines and the treatment plant.

Under the plan, if Council approves, the commissioners could assess the village for the entire project and be in charge. A letter will be sent to Council asking they come to an agreement with the commissioners.

It was pointed out the village can charge fees to all property owners for the new lines, even those who do not tap on.

The state has ordered that all small villages and municipalities establish or hook into a treatment system.

Youth Held For Court In City Car Theft Case

Jerry Ogden, 18, of Newell, was bound over to the Grand Jury today under $1,000 bond after he waived a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he stole a 1965 model auto June 17 from the used car lot of Mike Turk, Inc., on Broadway.

Represented by Paul Tobin, the youth entered a not guilty plea and asked to be held to the Grand Jury.

East Liverpool police said the boy was taken into custody shortly after the theft by Hancock County deputies. Charged with a traffic violation in Hancock County, he was held in the jail at New Cumberland until he was returned to East Liverpool on a fugitive warrant.

1,000 Gallons Of Acid Spill From Trailer

An estimated 1,000 gallons of sulphuric acid leaked out of an overturned chemical tank trailer along Route 7 just north of Route 30 Tuesday night.

Some 40 firemen from five area communities sped to the site opposite the Kennedy Restaurant to neutralize and dilute the acid from the 4,000-gallon capacity tank.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the trailer overturned when the driver of the rig—Richard H. Beck, 28, of New Castle — pulled off the highway — headed north — to stop and get coffee at the restaurant.

Officers said a section of the berm gave way and the trailer turned over on its side, the acid leaking out of top cover of the tank. The tractor of the rig remained upright.

The trailer overturned about 10 p.m. and was pulled back onto its wheels about 1:27 a.m., officers said.

One-way traffic was enforced along the highway while firemen spread lime and soda into a small run along the roadway into which the acid was leaking. The alkali helped neutralize the acid and firemen poured water into the run to further dilute the contamination.

The stream feeds a small nearby farm pond from which cattle drink and there are a number of cisterns in the area, and it was feared the acid would affect these water supplies.

Beck, driver for Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc., of Paris, Pa., was en route to New Castle with the industrial acid. There was only minor damage to the dented trailer.

Firemen and vehicles at the scene included Glenmoor, Rogers, Liverpool Township, Calcutta and the Civil Defense truck from Lisbon.

The farm pond is owned by Ross Schamp who reported there are a number of fish in its waters but doesn't know if the acid affected them.

Glenmoor Fire Chief Kenneth Mills said firemen pumped about 2,000 gallons of water and dumped a total of 20 50-pound sacks of lime. Firemen were at the scene over four hours.

The first Academy Awards for the best movie actor and actress went to Emil Jannings and Janet Gaynor in 1928 for a series of good film performances, but since that time the award is made to an individual on the basis of a role in one picture.

Truck sales in the U. S. last year reached a record 1,553,000 units.

Playlot Sites Given Study

Several proposed sites for establishment of a playground in the Sunnyside area were inspected by the City Park Commission prior to its monthly meeting Tuesday night at City Hall.

The commission also discussed the progress on preparation of playlot sites at Belleek St. and lower Avondale St. Joseph Walters, park superintendent, was asked to continue work on the two sites, as equipment which has been ordered is slated for delivery in about a week.

The board also ordered a fence erected on two sides of the playlot on Avondale St. as a safety measure. The ground slopes away from the site on the east side and also on the north side, so a fence is required as a safety measure, the board said.

The board also discussed work on preparation of baseball fields at the sanitary landfill in Bloomfield. A report was presented on plans for a marina in East End.

Robert Owen, chairman, and John Parsons attended. Louis Yanni was absent. H. James Allison is secretary. The next regular meeting will be Aug. 9 at City Hall.

In both the United States and Britain, the 25th wedding anniversary is considered an occasion for gifts of silver, and the 50th anniversary for gifts of gold, but U.S. custom requires 75 years of marriage for presents of diamonds compared with 60 years in Britain.

Spain May Use Bases As A Lever

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

MADRID (AP) — For a dozen years the United States has relied on air and naval bases in Spain to help support American forces committed to the defense of Western Europe. Today Spain's price for continuing these bases is going up, not in terms of economic aid or military hardware but in terms of diplomatic support.

Spain is beginning to make revolutionary changes in both its internal and its foreign policies.

At home it has moved toward greater press freedom and has granted workers a limited right to strike. The Franco government is working on a new law to establish freedom of religion in this overwhelmingly Catholic country.

In its foreign policy Spain aims at establishing new economic and defense links with its neighbors in Western Europe and with the Atlantic Alliance. To achieve these goals Spanish leaders want Washington's help. Failure to get it could jeopardize renewal of the base agreement, which comes up for negotiation again in 1968.

Though no Spanish policy maker puts it in such precise terms, the Spanish government is looking to the Johnson administration to:

1. Help overcome strong political opposition in some Western European countries, dating back to the Spanish Civil War 30 years ago, to accepting Spain as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.
2. Support Spain's now active interest in joining the six-nation European Common Market, which Spanish leaders consider vital to their booming economy.

3. Adopt a sympathetic attitude toward Spain's claim for sovereignty over Gibraltar, a British bastion at the Atlantic entrance to the Mediterranean for 250 years.

The U. S.-Spanish base agreement, made in 1953, partially broke this country's isolation from the West. American economic aid in the years immediately following helped to begin the modernization of the Spanish economy. Initial political changes have been undertaken more recently but in the view of foreign diplomats here are likely to be accelerated in the future.

Spanish officials believe the time is at hand for other countries to make a place for Spain in the Western European and Atlantic communities. They argue that the civil war which put Generalissimo Francisco Franco in power has been over 27 years and their pro-Axis neutrality in World War II ended more than 20 years ago.

The Franco government's most direct action so far under its emerging foreign policy has been to put pressure on Britain, beginning early this year, for a change in the status of Gibraltar. Traffic between the British territory and Spain has been slowed down by Spanish border authorities. Diplomatic talks have been started on the issue, which could become a serious quarrel between two friends of the United States.

American officials say the last thing they want is to get caught in the middle of this dispute. But no one denies that the Spanish government has a leverage on this issue as on others due to the presence and importance of the American bases here.

An authoritative Spanish view of the relationship between the two issues — Gibraltar and the bases — goes like this:

Britain gained control of Gibraltar under the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713, taking advantage of internal Spanish dissension. The Franco government contends that agreement must be revised. Officials argue Gibraltar is a foreign military base and colony on Spanish territory.

They say they are not asking Britain to yield complete control over Gibraltar and get out. They are asking that Spain's flag, as a symbol of Spanish sovereignty, fly over "The Rock" alongside the British flag, just as the Spanish flag flies with the American flag over American bases in Spain.

If the Gibraltar problem is solved to Spain's satisfaction, officials say, they see no difficulty on this score in continuing the base arrangement with the United States. They say if it is not solved, popular resistance must be expected to develop against all foreign bases in Spain, meaning those of the United States.

Cheating Report Rocks Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University officials say pressure from parents for good grades may be partly responsible for a major cheating scandal at the school which involved 39 students.

School officials described the incident which came to light Tuesday as "the worst cheating scandal in the university's history."

"It's difficult to tell why any one individual cheats," Executive Dean John T. Bonner said. "But most of those involved in the cheating were in some grade difficulty, enough so they would not have been able to meet the requirements for graduation."

One of the main difficulties expressed by students, according to Bonner, "is the pressure from parents for good grades. It may be one reason behind some of the cheating," he added. "It's difficult to tell."

The cheating was discovered when a student reported to the mathematics department that copies of a freshman math course examination were in circulation among students. The report came just one day before the examination was scheduled, June 10.

According to Bonner, five stu-

4-H Demonstration Contest Will Be Held Next Tuesday

LISBON — The Columbiana County 4-H demonstration contest will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening at the Methodist Church here.

Demonstrations will be classified "inside the home" and "outdoor," unlike 1965 when there were four different divisions.

Miss Karen Ruggles, summer 4-H assistant in the Cooperative Extension Office, said this type of classification is similar to that at the state fair and will be used to prevent confusion for those competing at Columbus in August.

The contestants will be divided into junior or senior groups with 14-years-by-Jan. 1 the dividing line.

The contest will begin with registration for the junior "inside the home" section at 1 o'clock. Demonstrations will begin at 1:30.

The senior "inside the home" section and the junior and senior "outdoor" sections will be

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Three years ago Frank Burroughs was a 79-year-old high school dropout.

Today he's a geography student at the University of Michigan.

"It's been bothering me ever since 1905 that I was a dropout," he says, smiling. "So I decided it still wasn't too late."

Burroughs, a salesman for 41 years, got his diploma from Wyoming Park High School in 1963, a year after he retired.

"My wife and the (four) kids kept telling me for years to go back to school, so when I got my high school diploma I figured I might as well keep on going," he says.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Vonda Kay Van Dyke, Miss America of 1965, will marry Dr. C. Andrew Laird of Los Angeles in an evening ceremony July 23 in the Phoenix Central Methodist Church.

FENIT, Ireland (AP) — William Verity of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has landed in Ireland after a 68-day voyage across the Atlantic in a 12-foot sloop.

Verity arrived Tuesday in the County Kerry Harbor of Fent with enough food and water to last another 10 days.

Verity said he made the trip to show it was possible that explorers before Columbus crossed the Atlantic in small craft.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham, home after a month-long crusade in Britain, says there are "tens of thousands of deeply religious young people" in Great Britain.

Even the long hair and short skirts among the young are "evidence of a spiritual search," Graham said, "a search for something to believe in, to commit themselves to, to trust in."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I work for a large organization and all telephone calls go through the switchboard, with the exception of the executives' private lines, which, of course, I cannot use.

My husband telephoned me this morning and I knew at once he was bombed and calling from a bar. It is Jack's habit to telephone and pick a fight when he knows he's in the doghouse — which he certainly was, because he didn't come home last night.

I lost my temper and used some rather salty language. Jack said some things he shouldn't have said and it was not a conversation you'd want an outsider to hear.

As I was leaving the office for lunch, I encountered one of the telephone operators. She gave me a "wiseapple" smirk and asked, "And how are things at your house?" I felt like strangling her.

Should I write an anonymous letter to the personnel manager about this snoop? If she listens in on my conversations she undoubtedly listens in on others. Your advice is wanted. — INVADED PRIVACY.

Dear I.P.: Most telephone operators have very little interest and even less time to tune in on family fights. The woman's greeting probably was an unfortunate coincidence. In the future, make it a rule never to discuss private business on the phone and then you won't need to worry about eavesdroppers.

Reluctant Lover

Dear Ann: Please, please, please — tell me how a man can tell a woman that he is in love with her, ask her to marry him, let her clue in family and friends, make all sorts of plans and then change his mind? If he was only infatuated, why would he propose marriage?

This happened to me and I'm so humiliated I can't hold up my head. My friends tell me that my former fiancée loves me but he is afraid of the responsibility of marriage. They say I should be patient and wait, and that he will come back.

What I need to know is how long should I wait? It has been eight months and I haven't heard one word from him.

Am I being a silly romantic to believe that true love can overcome any obstacle? — LEIGH.

Dear Leigh: You are right, true love can overcome any obstacle, but from your account of the way the young man has treated you, I would doubt that this is true love.

I suspect your friends are trying to be kind but I don't think it's an act of kindness to give false hope. If you have not heard one word from your ex-love in eight months I suggest you write him off and make new friends.

The Answer

Dear Ann: Please give us an answer to a question that is bothering us. Our daughter is 17. At first we thought she was just putting on weight. Now we know she is pregnant.

Last week she told us she and her boy friend want to get married because he may be called into the service soon. He is 21. What kind of wedding should a pregnant girl have? — NO NAME PLEASE.

Dear No Name: A quick one — with as little hoopla as possible.

Confidentially

TO NEED A WISER HEAD THAN MINE: There's nothing wrong with your head, my dear. Your letter was an extremely good one. Those "friends" are giving you a bum steer. I've never heard of such "Biblical advice." It may be a little late for you to "go forth and multiply" but a marriage that offers companionship in the evening of your lives makes a great deal of sense. Good luck, and God bless you.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Heat Swings Spotlight Back To Power Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — snaking around, as much as it ought to." The jet stream flows from west to east across the continent at about 40,000 feet. Usually it curves up over Canada and then drifts south, dragging cooler air into central and eastern parts of the nation. But now it's just blowing more or less straight out into the Atlantic.

The Geological Survey reported drought conditions in the Northeast have worsened in recent weeks with high temperatures placing additional demands on reservoir and underground water supplies.

But a spokesman said: "I see no reason now though for pessimism or extreme caution. With normal rainfall for the rest of the summer we would be left in fairly good shape." "We don't expect our telegram to produce any power," White said of the telegram to 500 major utilities.

He said if the Nebraska system had had stronger interties to the West "perhaps the difficulty could have been overridden without any outages."

"The future of the power industry rests in efficient and effective interconnection and coordination," White declared. There were these other heat wave-related developments:

The commission sent telegrams to 500 major utilities urging them to marshal their full power resources to minimize the possibility of power failures.

A U.S. Weather Bureau climatologist, Dr. J. Murray Mitchell Jr., placed part of the blame for the heat wave on the jet stream, saying "it's not undulating, or the result of a highly unusual, freakish situation in which a number of things joined together and a cascading effect was produced."

"Here we have an especially critical time and a very tight situation over a great area — most of the country east of the Rockies — because of the extended length of the unusual heat wave and the tremendous area of the country suffering from it."

"This is a continuing situation," he said, "but we have no reason to believe a system which held today will not hold tomorrow."

"There is no indication that any principal region is in danger of being inadequate to handle the load requirements. I mean any region with a coordinated system," White said.

If there is uneven brownings in the oven of your electric stove, you have not preheated the oven or have failed to stagger pans on the shelves or you have placed an aluminum foil pan so it is covering an entire shelf or touching the heating coil.

Farmers Will Get Rate Cut In Workmen Compensation

COLUMBUS — Ohio farmers will receive a 10.9 per cent decrease in the basic premium rates of workmen's compensation the last six months of 1966 and the first six months of next year.

D. R. Stanfield, executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, in making the announcement, said, "This drop in the basic rate is welcome news to farmers who find practically all other costs on the rise."

He attributed the lower rates to three factors: Better safety practices by farmers; more accurate reporting by farmer employers, and efficiency practices of the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation.

The new basic rate is $5.38 per $100 payroll, compared with $6.04 for the general farming classification in the fiscal year which ended June 30. The specialized farming classification rates dropped from $1.61 per $100 payroll to $1.47, an 8.7 per cent decrease for the same period.

Farmers will feel the effect of the new lower rates in early 1967 when payments for the last six months of 1966 are due.

Stanfield said the OFBF has campaigned since April 1962 for lower rates and improved practices to keep rates at a minimum.

The farm organization has been working through a consulting service to assist Farm Bureau members in applying for workmen's compensation coverage; review all reports to insure completeness and accuracy; audit and verify claims, and assist with special problems on claims, reports, classifications, regulation and other matters dealing with workmen's compensation.

Since the Farm Bureau initiated its program, the rates have dropped 20.3 per cent for general farming and 15.5 per cent for specialized farming, Stanfield said.

To Grow Crocodiles?

NEW DELHI — The government is considering a plan to establish crocodile farms and get into the business of exporting crocodile skins that are used for handbags and shoes.

If neither fresh nor dried dill is available, dill seed may be used when making pickles at home.

Plans Discussed For New Season By Businessmen

Plans for activities of the East Liverpool Merchants Association in the new fiscal year that began July 1 were discussed at a meeting of the Executive Committee and committee chairmen Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The meeting was conducted by James Locke Jr., who became president July 1, succeeding Dayton Allen. There was a general discussion of projects for the near future and others that will be undertaken later, including continuing plans for downtown improvements.

Discussion of the fall program included promotional events. Max Shoff was named again to head the promotion committee. The businessmen also talked over initial arrangements for the annual community Christmas program. Harold Allison was appointed again as head of the holiday committee, a post he has held for many years.

A financial report was presented. Nelson Hagerty, the ELMA representative to the City Planning Commission, reported on a meeting of the commission Monday night.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Recently I received a lightweight jacket with a pocket on the left sleeve about where the muscle should be. It's practically unnoticeable but real handy to put your cigarettes and lighter when you are just "going next door" or "across the street."

The thought occurred to me that women could put this little lefty-sleeve pocket on about any blouse or housedress! My wife has since added a pocket to three of hers.

Last week, my gal (whom I have been married to all these 33 years) bought a remnant of plaid material on sale and took all her white blouses and put a "pocket on her left sleeve." . . . she also covered the collar piece to match.

She sure started a new fad in our neighborhood.

This would be wonderful for children and husbands to carry things in and it looks real sporty.

BERNARD BENSON

DEAR HELOISE: This idea has helped me get my small son to sleep more quickly. It may help other mothers who have the same problem.

I removed the cotton from my son's large teddy bear, and inserted a zipper around the opening.

At night when my boy doesn't want to go to sleep, I fill a plastic bottle with warm water (with the lid tightly closed) and insert it in the opening in the bear, then zip shut.

My son sure loves his warm sleeping partner!

MRS. H.D.S.

DEAR HELOISE: For filling a modern, wide-mouthed pepper shaker, without "funnel fussing," use a baby's first-feeding spoon. The long handle and small bowl fit perfectly into both the pepper can and the shaker.

I have used this method and never spilled a speck.

BETTE BARNES

DEAR VOLKS: Let's come to grips with the facts . . . Canned drinks just DO leave rust on the bottom of a metal picnic cooler.

Last week while I was packing my cooler for a picnic, I happened to spy a sweet roll throw-away tin. It fitted perfectly in the bottom of our cooler.

The result was no rust to clean off later. You might try it.

If you have no foil throw-away tins, why not try lining the chest with a piece of heavy foil.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of ironing dark clothes on the wrong side, then spray-starching them, which causes inverted creases . . . I just spray as usual, then rub my hand over the fabric.

This way, the material absorbs the starch, and there are no white "specks."

LINDA KUHN

DEAR HELOISE: My son had some sport shirts which he no longer cared to wear because they weren't in style with the teen set any more.

I bought percale material (two yards was plenty) and made pajama pants, then used the shirts for the tops.

I might add that I wore them—not my son!

A.E.L.

DEAR HELOISE: I have an idea on how to avoid burned fingers and a grease-spattered stove when frying meat.

I used to put a bakery pie pan (aluminum with holes in it) upside down on top of my skillet, when cooking meat that splatters. But I usually burned my fingers, and my pot holders got dirty.

So, I asked my husband to put a wooden knob on the bottom of the pie pan—now no more burned fingers or dirty pot holders. My splatter-catcher looks like a regular boiling pan lid with small holes in it.

State Launches 'Screening' Of Junkyard Areas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A start on Ohio's junkyard screening program was reported by State Highway Director P. E. Masheter Tuesday.

Masheter told Gov. James A. Rhodes that $125,000 worth of screening work on primary routes will be completed this fall with more projects planned as federal funds become available.

Ohio has promised full cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads program on national beautification. All of the screening work in Ohio will be done by construction contract with bids being opened by the department late in July and August. Trees and shrubs will be planted within the existing right-of-way where feasible or along easements to screen the junkyard areas.

Under the program the federal government will pay 75 per cent of the cost, $161,825, with the state paying the remaining $33,175.

Seven projects covering screening of 12 different highway sections are scheduled.

Work to be done this fall includes 0.7 mile of U. S. 127 in Paulding County; 0.2 mile of Ohio 13 between Bellville and Mansfield in Richland County; 0.3 mile of U. S. 224 in Summit County; 0.2 mile of U. S. 36 in Delaware County; 0.4 of U. S. 42 near Mount Gilead; 0.6 mile of U. S. 33 near Marysville; 0.4 miles of U. S. 40 in Madison County; 0.4 miles of U. S. 22 near Williamsport in Pickaway County; 0.4 miles of U. S. 23 near Circleville; 0.2 miles of U. S. 35 in Gallia County, and a mile of Ohio 7 in Washington County between Belpre and Marietta.

Monthly Report Issued On Cases

LISBON — Columbiana County's two courts of common pleas last month disposed of 97 cases — three less than the number of new cases filed during the period.

The courts had 711 cases pending as of June 30, according to the monthly report prepared by Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey for the Ohio Supreme Court.

Forty-two of the new cases were divorce actions. There were 52 civil suits and six criminal cases.

A breakdown of dispositions shows 41 cases tried to court, four tried to juries, 39 settled or dismissed and 13 cognovit and default judgments.

Ten county cases remain pending before the Seventh District Court of Appeals.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Reader Differs On Jealousy Question

Some while ago in this column I answered a question: Q. Suppose your child 5, 9 or 12 often asked you if you loved him as much as you loved his brother or sister. What would you do? A. Though I might reply "Of course, I do." I would know that such words would not satisfy him, but that over the next weeks and months I would need to prove in scores of ways that I loved him as much. A reader responds from Missouri: "Of course I do" has long been celebrated as an unsatisfactory answer to this question as between husband and wife; I don't see why you recommend it between parent and child. Not that I think a child should receive a satisfactory answer. Children who don't learn as children that this is an offensive question will grow up to irritate their husbands or wives with it.

Dr. Garry Myers

"MY INCLINATION would be to answer, 'Not at the moment.' My mother, after refusing to answer such questions for a while, finally dealt with them by automatically telling either of us that just then she preferred the other. A child who feels the need of a little affection should learn that the way to achieve his end is not to demand it but to offer some demonstration of his own affection."

"I should not as a parent demonstrate extra love over the next weeks or months in response to this holdup unless observation convinced me that the child really needed the reassurance. I should watch carefully to see, but the question in itself is not sufficient evidence. Every child, really wants to be loved most of all, though it would actually make him very uneasy to be told he was the favorite."

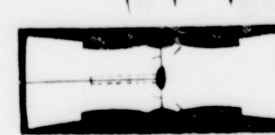

This mother is assuming that the child is wholly responsible for the jealousy feeling which prompted the question and that the parent has nothing to do with the matter; that, moreover, a child 5, 9 or 12 years of age has sufficient experience to know his was an "offensive question."

FURTHERMORE, she assumes that feelings of jealousy between husband and wife are around one another.

Budget OK'd By Southern Local Board

SALINEVILLE — A general fund of $550,856 — some $40,000 over the present amount — was included in a 1967 budget approved by the Southern Local School District board of education Monday night.

The budget includes approximately $45,000 which would be provided by a proposed 4.5-mill levy on which voters will ballot in November.

The increase in the general fund over the $510,493 is due to teacher salary increases, planned roof repairs at schools, textbooks and other items.

The new budget lists $47,220 for bond retirement, compared with $49,271 for the present year and $56,400 for cafeteria expenses, compared with $56,473 for the present.

The board will meet Monday night to discuss revisions of salaries of principals.

Ginder Selected For Presidency Of Ruritan Club

Harold Ginder was elected Monday night as president of the East Liverpool - Calcutta Ruritan Club, succeeding Allan Smith, who resigned.

Eleven members and six guests attended a garden party at the Ginder home on Fisher Ave., Mapletown. The club voted unanimously to recommend to county commissioners that the Retarded Children's School be erected at a central location for all the county.

The club also agreed to make available for use by the Cerebral Palsy unit the two wheel chairs owned by the club. Preliminary plans were made for sale of bows and wrapping paper produced at the Retarded Children's School.

A contest on patriotism and the flag highlighted entertainment. A family picnic will be held Aug. 8 at the home of Carl Wollam.

The new Department of Housing and Urban Development will be initially responsible for 33 government programs.

This is Crucible On June 30 Crucible opened a new and expanded magnet facility in Elizabethtown, Ky. Officiating at the ceremony were Kentucky Governor Edward T. Breathitt and Crucible President Joel Hunter who, appropriately, pulled apart two permanent magnets to break a stainless steel ribbon. Construction of the multi-million dollar plant began in 1960 with a ceramic producing facility. In 1964 Crucible decided to center all its magnet production in Elizabethtown and began an addition for Alnico magnet production. The result, we believe, is the most modern and efficient facility in the industry for permanent magnet production. It marks another step in the company's program of modernization and expansion. At Crucible we're going places, doing things.

West Virginians Are Asking Why LBJ Didn't Fly

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (P) — Several hundred West Virginians were probably wondering today why President Johnson didn't appear here Tuesday night, as they had heard he would.

The President was to have addressed the American Alumni Council meeting at the Greenbrier Hotel. The White House said bad flying conditions forced the trip to be called off.

Observers at the Greenbrier County Airport, where the President's plane would have landed, said at the time the skies had "high broken clouds, it's a very beautiful evening."

Gov. Hulet Smith's office contracted several radio stations and urged them to encourage people to turn out and greet the President. Included in the crowd, estimated at between 350 and 400, were 30 girls from the Women's Job Corp Center, 112 miles away in Charleston.

Also at the airport were 40 Job Corps boys from nearby Camp Neola.

Another explanation offered for the cancellation of Johnson's flight was the size of the airport and its runway.

The President was to have flown in a DC-7, which, an airport official explained, if fully loaded would have been too much for the runway.

Youth 'Serious' After Shooting In Pittsburgh Chase

PITTSBURGH (P) — A Pittsburgh teen-ager shot by a policeman remained hospitalized in serious condition today with a bullet wound of the head.

William J. Thomas, 19, was shot Tuesday by patrolman James Casson, 40, while Thomas and two other persons were fleeing from a stolen car after an auto chase through the city's Hill District, police said.

Casson and patrolman Edward Skinger, 39, spotted the trio in a stolen car and gave chase.

The three abandoned the vehicle when stopped by a roadblock and attempted to escape on foot, police said.

They said Casson called for Thomas to stop and, when he disregarded the order, fired, hitting the youth in the back of the head. Skinger apprehended Marvin D. Solomon, 20, of Pittsburgh. The third person escaped.

Highway, Bridge Unit Retains Its Officers

The following also were re-elected: Gov. Scranton, president; Sen. George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, vice president; Miss Genevieve Blatt, secretary of internal affairs; secretary: Mrs. Grace M. Sloan, auditor general, treasurer, and Harry D. Harral, assistant secretary.

Sad and sudden was the call. Of one so dear and loved by all. Her long years had ceased to beat. Before we knew it, she was gone. A bitter grief a shock severe. To part with one we loved so dearly. God loved her too and thought it best. So he took her home to eternal rest. But only those who loved her best can tell. The heartache of not saying a last farewell.

Junior Editors Quiz on
SNAKES

QUESTION: Was there ever such a thing as a hoop snake?

ANSWER: There are several kinds of highly poisonous American snakes, so it is understandable that people should be afraid of snakes as a whole. Probably because of this fear, a number of fantastic legends about snakes have arisen, which are without foundation in fact. One of these untrue superstitions is that snakes can charm birds to make them easier to catch. Another is that the Milk Snake can actually milk cows. The idea that a snake could grab the end of its tail and roll like a hoop, as we illustrate at the top, is another completely false notion. Snakes move close to the ground. Their body structure would not permit them to roll in this way. The snake to which this superstition is especially attached is the harmless southern Mud Snakes, fond of burrowing under ground along the edges of swamps. The Mud Snake has a spike on the end of its tail which is often, and mistakenly supposed to be poisonous. Perhaps the idea of a snake with a stinger in its tail may have given people the idea that it had other strange powers, such as rolling like a hoop along the road.

FOR YOU TO DO: The Mud Snake may be harmless, but remember that in the same swamp may live some deadly Cottonmouth Moccasins. Unless you are an expert, keep away from all snakes.

Intruder Gets Cash, Liquor

An inventory is scheduled to determine the full extent of the loss in a burglary at a new Dresden Ave. tavern in which a preliminary report indicated the intruder escaped with four bottles of whisky and vodka and an undetermined amount in change, police said.

The burglary was reported about noon Tuesday at Alex's Cocktail Lounge and Carry-Out on outer Dresden Ave., near the city limits. It is operated by James Cunningham of the Campground Rd.

The burglar gained entrance by prying open a glass door on the west side of the building, officers said. He removed all the change from the cash register — quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies — and then took three fifths of liquor and a fifth of vodka, officers said.

The entry was timed between 2:30 and 11 a. m. Tuesday. The police report was filed at 11:40. Officers said the inventory will be made to determine if there was any further loss.

Meanwhile, Fred Cornell of Negley R. D. 1 told police Tuesday thieves removed about 100 gallons of gasoline from three of his trucks while they were parked on State St. Monday night or early Tuesday.

Cornell said the thieves first attempted unsuccessfully to siphon the gas. Then they removed the drains from the bottom of the tanks and "drained them dry," he said.
